'Like Sword Of Damocles'

Big Bombs Built To Hang Over West's Head, K Says

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev said today the Soviet Union had built 50- and 100-megaton bombs so that they would hang over the heads of Western powers like the sword of Damocles.

He told delegates to the Communist-dominated congress of the World Federation of Trade Unions that the Soviet Union had no plans to use such bombs "but we shall certainly use this weapon against the enemy if they unleash a new war.

"The 50- and 100-megaton bombs will always hang over their heads like the sword of Damocles," he said.

The Russian premier drew his allusion from ancient Greek history. Damocles was rebuked and forced to sit at a royal banquet with a sword suspended over his head by a hair.

Speaking excitedly from the platform in the Kremlin's red and gray Hall of Congresses, he said that there was not a point on the globe that could not be reached by Soviet rockets and he thought that was a strong deterrent against aggressive forces.

Khrushchev expressed dismay that not everybody in the world appreciated the "correctness" of the Soviet Union's decision to resume nuclear testing in the air.

He said that many honest people had expressed concern about the health danger.

But, he claimed, "The socialist countries have to think first, not about fallout shelters but how to avoid having nuclear bombs fall on our heads.

"Do you want us to create conditions in which they would throw bombs at us and also clean the air for them?" he said. "We would be slobbering idiots if we did not carry out the nuclear tests. This is the only correct line and the one we have chosen."

When Khrushchev concluded there was stormy applause and the delegates gathered from all over the world stood up and joined him in singing the Internationale.

Khrushchev laughed at President Kennedy's proposal for an internationally controlled corridor to West Berlin.

"Strange people!" he said. "They still think of the Soviet Union as it used to be. They do not realize we have changed our shorts for long pants."

Hartford, Conn., Tragedy

Probe Continued In Fire Fatal To 15 At Hospital

100 Others Trapped But Are Rescued

Cause Not Clear; 5 Visitors Among Victims Of Blaze

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Fire burst out of a ninth floor trash chute at Hartford Hospital Friday, flashed down a corridor with blowtorch fury and killed 15 persons.

More than 100 other persons were trapped in hospital rooms as the fire transformed once gleaming corridors into a mass of charred debris.

Six patients, five visitors and four hospital staff members were among the dead. Two of the visitors had been to see their ill husbands. There were 793 patients in the hospital at the time.

An almost immediate investigation and hearing put witness after witness — some of them still disheveled and soot-marked — before fire officials in an effort to pinpoint the cause.

The cause was not clear. Perhaps a lighted cigarette, said one hospital official. Perhaps some kind of escaped gas, said another.

The formal interrogation session lasted for six hours and was recessed until today.

One doctor said flames raced along the ceiling. Another said a billow of flame dropped down from the ceiling "like a blowtorch."

Thick smoke and a muffled explosion accompanied the blast of flame that spouted from the trash chute at the ninth floor.

Patients screamed for help from their windows. Rescuers fought through smoke and fire as they carried helpless patients to safety down stairs or by the few elevators still working.

Nurses remained with their patients to prevent panic despite choking smoke and approaching flames. They ran through corridors, slamming doors shut as a safety measure until they were forced to seek refuge in rooms.

Rescuers evacuated all patients from the eighth floor up in the $10-million, 13-story hospital that was built 13 years ago and was regarded as almost fireproof.

Firemen tried to reach trapped patients on the ninth floor with extension ladders. But most of the ladders went only as high as the eighth floor.

Some patients were carried to safety while plasma bottles still were attached to their arms.

One of the hospital staff members, 33-year-old Dr. Norman Hedenstad, perished in the flames as he tried to close a door at the end of a corridor to prevent the spread of the fire.

Andrew Agogliati, 53, of Framingham, Mass., one of four patients in a ninth floor room, heard a shout: "Get the patients out!"

He got out of bed—"Although I'm not supposed to"—and saw flames and smoke.

West German, French Chiefs Begin Talks

Adenauer Will Try To Sell DeGaulle On Soviet Parley

PARIS (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer flew here today for talks with President Charles de Gaulle in another attempt to sell the French leader on early negotiations with Russia on Berlin.

The chances of success for Adenauer's mission appear slim.

De Gaulle, according to best reports, is still cool to some American ideas that Adenauer apparently accepted in his recent conferences with President Kennedy.

Adenauer will give De Gaulle a report on his Washington conversations.

De Gaulle's foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, told the French Senate this week France opposed any precipitate negotiations under the gun of Soviet threats, and likewise opposed talks limited to the issue of Berlin and Allied access rights.

Couve de Murville also disparaged the recent "probes of Soviet intentions" conducted in Moscow by American, British and West German representatives. They had failed, he said, to turn up any reasonable basis for negotiations with the Russians, and had aspects that France would consider dangerous to European security.

Vessel Sinks In Storm; 33 Believed Lost

MANILA (AP)—A Panamanian freighter sank in a storm in the South China Sea Friday night and it was feared 33 on board may have perished.

The 1,722-ton freighter Combined One, en route to Hong Kong from Singapore with a cargo of logs, apparently went down just west of Ladd Reef, in the Spratly Island group about 650 miles southwest of Manila.

The U.S. Navy said five survivors had been rescued and two bodies recovered.

Intermittent Snow Forecast For District

A snowstorm moving out of the west may bring the East Liverpool area a light fall today.

Some snow fell intermittently this morning and it was beginning to accumulate. If it continues tonight, it may be mixed with rain as temperatures were moderating.

Some parts of the state, the southern and central counties, may get 2 to 4 inches, with freezing rain or rain to follow, the Ohio weatherman said.

Today's high will be in the "snowing range" of 32 to 38 degrees and tonight's low will be 30 to 35. The downtown had a frosty low of 23 this morning.

Sunday will see scattered snow flurries with little change in temperature.

Mayor Slates Full Study Of Skating Law

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet indicated Friday afternoon he will take the 10 full days that the law allows him to act upon a controversial ordinance allowing Sunday roller skating which was enacted by Council Thursday night, climax of three sessions on the issue in a week.

The ordinance was turned over to the mayor Friday. If he takes the full 10 days for consideration, he must act by Sunday, Dec. 17. Mayor Goodballet said delaying the decision to the statutory limit will give the public an opportunity to express its opinions to him.

Law allows the mayor to approve the ordinance, veto it or permit it to become law without his signature.

If he vetoes a measure, he must return it to Council "forthwith," along with a veto message, the law provides. But Council then must wait 10 days before acting to override the veto.

That means if the ordinance is vetoed, Council could not act to override before Dec. 27 — four days before the terms of all the incumbents expire.

But Council has sufficient votes to overturn the mayor's veto, if the occasion arises. Five voted consistently for enactment of the ordinance. A two-thirds vote, which means five, is required to override a veto.

A report published yesterday said six votes are required to override a veto. The vote of three-fourths of the membership, which means six votes, is required to suspend the rules and enact a piece of legislation at a single meeting.

Council gave first reading to the measure Monday night, with second reading at a special session Wednesday night and final passage at another special meeting Thursday night. The bill would allow roller rinks to operate from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Sundays. Sunday skating now is banned entirely.

175 Escape Uninjured In Cleveland Blaze

CLEVELAND (AP) — About 175 persons escaped safely from a burning four - story apartment building on the near West Side today as firemen battled the five-alarm fire.

No injuries were reported, but ambulances stood by to make sure all residents fled the 48 suites of the brick building.

Spoon Handle Swallowed By Madman, 37

Waits Transfer To New York; Accused Of Slaying Family

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hospital physicians today studied X-rays of a madman who swallowed at least one spoon and maybe more while awaiting transfer to New York, where he is accused of slaughtering his brother-in-law's family.

Dade County jailers said the man, Mate (Mike) Ivanov, 37, had broken the bowl off a spoon and swallowed the 3½-inch handle.

Physicians said X-rays showed at least one spoon in his stomach. They said they would wait a day or so to see if he would pass the spoon normally before deciding on surgery.

Ivanov was bound to a stretcher in the psychiatric ward of a hospital. Attendants described him as noncommittal, quiet.

"He hasn't said much since he arrived here," said one attendant.

The FBI identified Ivanov as the man wanted in Mineola, N.Y., for the Nov. 25 bayonet massacre of five persons.

The victims were Peter Gregov, 39, his wife, 35, and their three sons; Peter Jr., 17, Ronald, 15, and Michael, 11. Even the family poodle was stabbed to death with 17 wounds. A French bayonet found nearby was described as the murder weapon.

Ivanov was picked up by immigration authorities Dec. 5 on charges of illegal entry into the United States. He was found posing as a Cuban refugee in a rowboat near Marathon in the Florida keys.

A fingerprint check by the FBI disclosed his identity.

Records showed that Ivanov and his wife and four children lived with the Gregovs when they arrived in the United States from Trieste on the Yugoslavian border. Later, Ivanov and his wife had domestic difficulties and she and Gregov had Ivanov committed to a mental institution.

Authorities at the mental institution described Ivanov as not dangerous, but a victim of chronic mental illness with symptoms of paranoid delusion.

Ivanov fled the hospital Nov. 15 while working on a laundry delivery detail. Dr. Francis O'Neill, the hospital director, did not report his escape to the police because he believed him harmless.

Regular Units Needed First

Pentagon Gives Ruling On Reserves, Guardsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Reservists and National Guardsmen can be returned to civilian life as soon as regular units are created to take their places, Pentagon officials said today.

The officials made clear the Pentagon did not have a firm schedule for releasing the 119,500 Guardsmen and Reservists mustered into the Army last October.

Next month, training centers will start producing the first substantial manpower reinforcements for the Army resulting from the increased draft calls that began in August. The Army figures it takes a minimum of five months to train a new man to carry a full load as a soldier.

The increased flow of trained draftees does not mean called-up Reservists and Guardsmen can be released at the same time, officials stressed.

They said there are other key factors such as the rate of enlistments and, perhaps most important, the world situation.

"The Berlin crisis hasn't changed enough to warrant sending the Guardsmen and Reservists home," one official said.

The Army hopes to release all the Guardsmen and Reservists from active service by next July, but no decision has been made on when to start the process.

For one thing, the Army feels they should undergo at least five months of training. Most of them have been in uniform less than two months.

Oath Of Office Given New Council Member

Councilman-elect Floyd Murray of the First Ward was given the oath of office Friday afternoon by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, preparing to begin his term Jan. 1.

Murray, a Democrat, was named at the Nov. 7 general election, defeating H. A. Tullis, Republican. He took the oath in a brief ceremony in the judge's chambers.

Murray will succeed Clifford Cooper, also a Democrat, who was defeated in the May primaries. With the action yesterday, all except four officials - elect have taken the oath from the judge this week. They are Frank Duffy, named a councilman - at-large; Safety - Service Director Robert Owen, elected Council president, and Treasurer Bert A. Dawson and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, named to new terms.

Castro Hurls Challenge At 2 Countries

Also Rips Kennedy On Scheduled Trip To Latin America

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro lashed out today with a bitter attack on Panama and Colombia and challenged them to sever diplomatic ties with his Cuban regime.

The Cuban prime minister, in a midnight television speech, also assailed President Kennedy's scheduled trip next week to Venezuela and Colombia, charging it is aimed at defending the U.S. "repressive policy against workers."

Castro told a cheering audience of graduating school teachers he was issuing the invitation to his two Latin-American neighbors "on a silver platter" to accommodate the wishes of the U.S. State Department.

Castro called Panama "another government of traitors and accomplices of the Yankee imperialists.

"Let them break relations with us, these unlawful ones like Panama and Colombia," Castro said.

Colombia this week called for a foreign ministers' meeting to discuss the problem Cuba poses for the hemisphere. Panama recently relayed to Cuba a diplomatic note from Guatemala in which that nation threatened to permit establishment of a Cuban government in exile unless ex-President Jacobo Arbenz is expelled from his exile in Cuba.

FBI Visits Race Track In Bookie Bet Source

Acting under extended powers granted earlier this year, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents visited the Ohio Valley Friday in a probe into the transmission of "bookie" information.

The agents checked spots in Wheeling and Weirton, in addition to Waterford Park, the alleged area of source of information being supplied horsebook operations for wagering purposes.

No arrests were made by the FBI agents, who were acting under extended powers granted in legislation adopted earlier this year, which prohibits transmission of wagering information in interstate commerce.

Ohio Valley bookies have been without even token service since an area radio station ceased broadcasting race results Dec. 1.

Capital City Quiet

Katanga Conflict Slowed By Rains

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Torrential rains slowed the fighting between U.N. and Katanga forces today giving Elisabethville the quietest spell since the battle began on the outskirts of the capital five days ago.

At Leopoldville, the United Nations said U.N. Swedish jets had knocked out the powerful government-controlled Katanga radio Friday. The U.N. announcement said Swedish ground troops dispersed a large concentration of Katanga gendarmes around the Elisabethville transmitter.

Katangan sources disputed U.N. claims and said only a powerline was cut and the station could go back on the air after repairs.

Mortar fire was heard in the area of the U.N. headquarters here at dawn. Katanga army sources said they expect to launch an attack to try to clear the area.

A report to the U.N. command at Leopoldville said Indian troops fought off an attack through the bush around the Elisabethville airport Friday, supported by Indian Canberra jet aircraft. Two attacking companies of Katanga gendarmes were reported to have suffered heavy losses.

U.N. sources said the column of advancing gendarmes was led by a huge improvised tank, constructed by a private industrial firm in Katanga. Built upon the base of a bulldozer, the tank was covered with double armor plates filled with concrete.

The Indians claimed they attacked the tank with a recoilless rifle and demolished it with the first shot.

A U.N. armored car drove through the section of town around the U.N. headquarters here with a loudspeaker warning civilians not to shelter Katanga snipers in their homes or "action would be taken to destroy the snipers nests."

Skirmishes flared on the outskirts of Elisabethville. But the U.N. forces made no effort to drive into the center of the city where the Katangans held two main military strongholds—President Moise Tshombe's palace and the Lido Hotel.

Brian Urquhart, U.N. political advisor, reported to his New York headquarters that Swedish, Irish and Indian troops were making good progress in cleaning up the outskirts of the capital and had eliminated all Katangan roadblocks.

Meanwhile, political outbursts spread around the world over the U.N. role in Katanga.

Encyclical On Pope Leo I

Pope Makes Strong Plea For Unity Of Christians

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today made the most powerful plea of his reign for Christian unity in the modern world.

The Pope made his appeal in issuing an encyclical on Pope Leo I, the great fifth century pontiff.

Appealing for the unity of all Christians, Pope John expressed the hope that the day bringing "the dawn of universal reconciliation" would come soon.

Leo, who became a saint of the Roman Catholic Church, stood up to Attila the Hun, dissuading him from attacking Rome.

But the great pontiff was especially noted for his fight for church unity at a time when the church faced heresy both in the East and the West, and the declining power of the Roman Empire faced the assaults of barbarian hordes.

Vatican sources said that the pontiff obviously intended his encyclical on Leo as a call to the world's Christian forces to band together against the threat of atheistic communism today.

The encyclical, from its opening words in Latin, is named "Aeterna dei Sapienta" — the eternal wisdom of God.

Its issuance in advance of the Roman Catholic Church's first ecumenical council in nearly 100 years emphasized Pope John's deep concern with Christian unity, a subject upon which he has frequently touched in the three years of his reign.

Accord Seen In Dominican Controversy

Formula Reported For Agreement In Political Crisis

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The official newspaper El Caribe said today agreement in principle has been reached between opposition and government representatives on a formula to solve the nation's political crisis.

The newspaper gave no details on the formula. It did not attribute the information to any specific individual. The report could not be immediately confirmed from either opposition or government sources.

At the same time, the opposition radio network, Voz del Tropico, announced that a general strike called to back opposition demands that President Jaquin Balaguer step out of the government has been ended.

The reports followed Friday night's 12-hour negotiating session between government and opposition representatives. After the session recessed, the National Civic Union, largest of the opposition groups, said it would continue negotiations today despite an ultimatum that it would withdraw from the talks unless a settlement was reached.

Meanwhile, the United States announced it has withdrawn a fleet of warships from the vicinity of the Dominican Republic. The ships appeared off the coast shortly after two brothers of slain dictator Rafael Trujillo returned to the country apparently to try to restore a rightest dictatorship. The Trujillos, Hector and Jose Arizmendi, were forced out of the country a few days later by an air force coup.

In Washington, U.S. government sources declined to discuss the significance of recalling the ships.

Opposition groups have insisted that Balaguer, a former front man for dictator Trujillo, and all other holdovers from the Trujillo era must get out of the government. A general strike called to back the demands entered its 12th day today.

"Let them break relations with us, these unlawful ones like Panama and Colombia," Castro said.

Colombia this week called for a foreign ministers' meeting to discuss the problem Cuba poses for the hemisphere. Panama recently relayed to Cuba a diplomatic note from Guatemala in which that nation threatened to permit establishment of a Cuban government in exile unless ex-President Jacobo Arbenz is expelled from his exile in Cuba.

FBI Visits Race Track In Bookie Bet Source

Acting under extended powers granted earlier this year, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents visited the Ohio Valley Friday in a probe into the transmission of "bookie" information.

The agents checked spots in Wheeling and Weirton, in addition to Waterford Park, the alleged area of source of information being supplied horsebook operations for wagering purposes.

No arrests were made by the FBI agents, who were acting under extended powers granted in legislation adopted earlier this year, which prohibits transmission of wagering information in interstate commerce.

Ohio Valley bookies have been without even token service since an area radio station ceased broadcasting race results Dec. 1.

Capital City Quiet

Katanga Conflict Slowed By Rains

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Torrential rains slowed the fighting between U.N. and Katanga forces today giving Elisabethville the quietest spell since the battle began on the outskirts of the capital five days ago.

At Leopoldville, the United Nations said U.N. Swedish jets had knocked out the powerful government-controlled Katanga radio Friday. The U.N. announcement said Swedish ground troops dispersed a large concentration of Katanga gendarmes around the Elisabethville transmitter.

Katangan sources disputed U.N. claims and said only a powerline was cut and the station could go back on the air after repairs.

Mortar fire was heard in the area of the U.N. headquarters here at dawn. Katanga army sources said they expect to launch an attack to try to clear the area.

A report to the U.N. command at Leopoldville said Indian troops fought off an attack through the bush around the Elisabethville airport Friday, supported by Indian Canberra jet aircraft. Two attacking companies of Katanga gendarmes were reported to have suffered heavy losses.

U.N. sources said the column of advancing gendarmes was led by a huge improvised tank, constructed by a private industrial firm in Katanga. Built upon the base of a bulldozer, the tank was covered with double armor plates filled with concrete.

The Indians claimed they attacked the tank with a recoilless rifle and demolished it with the first shot.

A U.N. armored car drove through the section of town around the U.N. headquarters here with a loudspeaker warning civilians not to shelter Katanga snipers in their homes or "action would be taken to destroy the snipers nests."

Skirmishes flared on the outskirts of Elisabethville. But the U.N. forces made no effort to drive into the center of the city where the Katangans held two main military strongholds—President Moise Tshombe's palace and the Lido Hotel.

Brian Urquhart, U.N. political advisor, reported to his New York headquarters that Swedish, Irish and Indian troops were making good progress in cleaning up the outskirts of the capital and had eliminated all Katangan roadblocks.

Meanwhile, political outbursts spread around the world over the U.N. role in Katanga.

Encyclical On Pope Leo I

Pope Makes Strong Plea For Unity Of Christians

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today made the most powerful plea of his reign for Christian unity in the modern world.

The Pope made his appeal in issuing an encyclical on Pope Leo I, the great fifth century pontiff.

Appealing for the unity of all Christians, Pope John expressed the hope that the day bringing "the dawn of universal reconciliation" would come soon.

Leo, who became a saint of the Roman Catholic Church, stood up to Attila the Hun, dissuading him from attacking Rome.

But the great pontiff was especially noted for his fight for church unity at a time when the church faced heresy both in the East and the West, and the declining power of the Roman Empire faced the assaults of barbarian hordes.

Vatican sources said that the pontiff obviously intended his encyclical on Leo as a call to the world's Christian forces to band together against the threat of atheistic communism today.

The encyclical, from its opening words in Latin, is named "Aeterna dei Sapienta" — the eternal wisdom of God.

Its issuance in advance of the Roman Catholic Church's first ecumenical council in nearly 100 years emphasized Pope John's deep concern with Christian unity, a subject upon which he has frequently touched in the three years of his reign.

Accord Seen In Dominican Controversy

Formula Reported For Agreement In Political Crisis

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The official newspaper El Caribe said today agreement in principle has been reached between opposition and government representatives on a formula to solve the nation's political crisis.

The newspaper gave no details on the formula. It did not attribute the information to any specific individual. The report could not be immediately confirmed from either opposition or government sources.

At the same time, the opposition radio network, Voz del Tropico, announced that a general strike called to back opposition demands that President Jaquin Balaguer step out of the government has been ended.

The reports followed Friday night's 12-hour negotiating session between government and opposition representatives. After the session recessed, the National Civic Union, largest of the opposition groups, said it would continue negotiations today despite an ultimatum that it would withdraw from the talks unless a settlement was reached.

Meanwhile, the United States announced it has withdrawn a fleet of warships from the vicinity of the Dominican Republic. The ships appeared off the coast shortly after two brothers of slain dictator Rafael Trujillo returned to the country apparently to try to restore a rightest dictatorship. The Trujillos, Hector and Jose Arizmendi, were forced out of the country a few days later by an air force coup.

In Washington, U.S. government sources declined to discuss the significance of recalling the ships.

Opposition groups have insisted that Balaguer, a former front man for dictator Trujillo, and all other holdovers from the Trujillo era must get out of the government. A general strike called to back the demands entered its 12th day today.

Dr. S. E. Daw's Funeral Will Be Held On Monday

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 3 for Dr. Seward E. Daw, superintendent of Wellsville schools for 40 years, who died Friday at 7:45 a.m. in Presbyterian-University Hospital in Pittsburgh 12 days after he was injured in an auto crash near Beaver Falls.

The Rev. Arden R. Beck, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate at the services at the MacLean Funeral Home. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery, Wellsville.

Dr. Daw was driver of a car struck by another on Route 251 Nov. 26. The car went off the highway and crashed into a tree, killing his wife, Mrs. Bessie M. Daw, and Mrs. Lyda M. Rowen. The latter's husband, George H. Rowen, also was injured but is recovering slowly.

Born in Philo, to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daw, he was superintendent of schools at Frazeysburg and Caldwell before coming to Wellsville about 1921.

Dr. Daw, who resided at 1001 Main St., authored many textbooks in his career as an educator, including a series on social science for Grades 1 through 6, and another series of spelling books for elementary pupils. The textbooks are used widely.

A graduate of Muskingum College, he later attended the University of Pittsburgh and received his doctorate from the University of Chicago.

A member of the First Methodist Church, he was a lay leader, member of the Board of Trustees, teacher of the Men's Bible Class and a member of the Pastoral Relations Committee.

He was also a member of Wellsville Chapter 55, Royal Arch Masons, the Steubenville Consistory and a member and secretary for over 25 years of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club. He was a 32nd Degree Mason.

He leaves two sons, Dr. Stanford Daw of Zanesville and Joseph W. Daw of Midland, Mich.; a daughter, Mrs. R. Bernard Fitzgerald of Lexington, Ky., and six grandchildren.

Friends may call tonight after 7:30 and Sunday afternoon and evening at the funeral home.

Wellsville public schools will be closed all day Monday and a meeting of the Board of Education scheduled Monday night has been postponed.

37 Hancock Farms Join Wheat Program

Thirty-seven Hancock County farms will take part in the 1962 winter wheat stabilization program, the County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today.

Deadline for signing up under the winter wheat program was Dec. 1. The participating farms represent about 39 per cent of the total farms in the county which produce winter wheat, Carl Allison, chairman, said.

Applications filed through the deadline call for the diversion of 172.7 acres from the production of wheat on the farms. The diverted acreage must be devoted to an approved conservation use as one requirement in qualifying for the special payment program.

A total of $1,190.71 has been paid to participants as advance payments during the signup period, Allison said.

2 Of Wellsville Cited For Property Damage

An 18-year-old Wellsville youth was arrested by police Friday night for malicious destruction of property at an E. 2nd St. tavern and his 17-year-old companion was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Gary Lee Call, 425 18th St., and his friend, also from Wellsville, were picked up by police after answering a call from Robert Sutherin, operator of the Manhattan Cafe, concerning a disturbance.

Yellow Creek Group, Road Aide To Meet

A committee of five Northern Jefferson County residents will leave early Tuesday morning for Columbus to attempt to convince the Ohio director of highways of the necessity of a grade separation at Yellow Creek.

The group has an appointment with Everett S. Preston, head of the State Highway Department, whom they will ask for construction of either an overpass or underpass at the junction of Routes 7 and 213 at Yellow Creek south of Wellsville.

The interview was apparently arranged by William McKenna, Division 11 deputy director of the highway department, who was told of the traffic dangers existing at the junction at a meeting Nov. 30 near Hammondsville.

The committee will include Supt. C. P. Henderson of Stanton Local Schools, Jefferson County State Rep. Douglas Applegate, Dr. W. S. Banfield, president of the Stanton Board of Education, Mayor Quenton Henderson of Irondale and Thomas Lysle of Hammondsville, a leader in the campaign for improvements.

At an earlier meeting with McKenna, a group pointed up the dangers existing for motorists and school buses using the intersection in foggy weather. The group made it clear that it doesn't think illumination of the junction will eliminate the dangers entirely.

The junction has been the scene of numerous traffic accidents, particularly in foggy weather, and was the site of a triple fatality in 1959 when a truck crashed into a car emerging from Route 213 in the fog.

The committee will present to Preston a number of petitions signed by residents asking that the proposed grade separation be given a high priority in the department's highway improvement plans.

The petitions are posted in Burton's service station and the post office in Hammondsville, the Irondale Post Office and at a site in Empire.

Trials this term, which begin Monday at Beaver, number about 35 and include the case of William Bradley of Midland, indicted by the Grand Jury on a charge of rape.

Albert R. Coffey and James R. Coffey, both of New Brighton, face trial for burglary. Both were arrested by Police Chief Guy St. Esprit of Industry for an alleged burglary of Mickey's Place, a tavern at Ohio View, Oct. 15.

Courtesy Asked To Ease Traffic Jam In East End

Pottery and millworkers using Pennsylvania and Harvey Aves. en route to work were asked today by Safety - Service Director Robert Owen to allow motorists on East End side streets to enter the main traffic flow.

Owen appealed for the courtesy after receiving complaints that motorists using the two main thoroughfares will not allow other drivers to enter the line of early - morning traffic, particularly at Putnam St.

Traffic signals at Putnam St., Myrtle St., Oakland Ave., Dewey Ave. and Mulberry St. operate as blinkers between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m., the director said, in order to speed workers to their jobs.

If motorists do not heed the appeal, the Putnam St. light will be turned on at 6 a.m. as requested by East End drivers who filed the complaints, the director continued.

He explained the Putnam St. intersection is particularly dangerous for motorists wanting to turn west onto Harvey Ave. because cars are backed up across the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

The boy continued home where his mother discovered the injury and notified police after hearing the boy's story.

Courtesy Asked To Ease Traffic Jam In East End

Pottery and millworkers using Pennsylvania and Harvey Aves. en route to work were asked today by Safety - Service Director Robert Owen to allow motorists on East End side streets to enter the main traffic flow.

Owen appealed for the courtesy after receiving complaints that motorists using the two main thoroughfares will not allow other drivers to enter the line of early - morning traffic, particularly at Putnam St.

Traffic signals at Putnam St., Myrtle St., Oakland Ave., Dewey Ave. and Mulberry St. operate as blinkers between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m., the director said, in order to speed workers to their jobs.

If motorists do not heed the appeal, the Putnam St. light will be turned on at 6 a.m. as requested by East End drivers who filed the complaints, the director continued.

He explained the Putnam St. intersection is particularly dangerous for motorists wanting to turn west onto Harvey Ave. because cars are backed up across the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

Wellsville Boy Hurts Head In Traffic Case

A Wellsville boy, brushed by a car when he darted onto the street Thursday night, was treated at City Hospital Friday morning for a head injury.

Leonard David, 9, son of Charles David, 337½ Main St., Wellsville, ran from between two parked cars and onto Main St. between 3rd and 4th Sts., Wellsville, police said.

It was slippery and he was brushed by a passing car. Police said the driver apparently didn't realize his car had struck the child.

The boy, who was accompanied by a younger brother, suffered the injury above an eye when he slipped to the street. The mishap was timed at 10:50 p. m.

The boy continued home where his mother discovered the injury and notified police after hearing the boy's story.

Chief Promises Aid In Campaign On Safe Driving

Chief Americo J. Radeschi pledged today that East Liverpool police will co-operate in Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff's campaign for safe driving in the year-end holiday season, particularly by being on the alert for drunken motorists.

"Persons who imbibe at holiday parties should call a cab or make arrangements for a ride home with a friend," Chief Radeschi said. "Anyone with 'a few drinks' under his belt is a menace to himself and everyone else using the streets and highways."

Judge Chertoff warned Tuesday that he will attempt to curb drunken driving in the Christmas season by imposing stiffer penalties.

A National Safety Council Survey shows that 55 per cent of Christmas season fatal traffic accidents involved drivers who had been drinking, the chief said. Research also has shown that most drivers are affected seriously even by relatively low amounts of alcohol in the bloodstream, the chief added.

Chief Promises Aid In Campaign On Safe Driving

Chief Americo J. Radeschi pledged today that East Liverpool police will co-operate in Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff's campaign for safe driving in the year-end holiday season, particularly by being on the alert for drunken motorists.

"Persons who imbibe at holiday parties should call a cab or make arrangements for a ride home with a friend," Chief Radeschi said. "Anyone with 'a few drinks' under his belt is a menace to himself and everyone else using the streets and highways."

Judge Chertoff warned Tuesday that he will attempt to curb drunken driving in the Christmas season by imposing stiffer penalties.

A National Safety Council Survey shows that 55 per cent of Christmas season fatal traffic accidents involved drivers who had been drinking, the chief said. Research also has shown that most drivers are affected seriously even by relatively low amounts of alcohol in the bloodstream, the chief added.

Howard Cusick, 18, of Lisbon R.D. 2, formerly of Clevleand, was indicted for theft of an auto from Cleveland. He drove it to Lisbon, and overturned it on the Old Steubenville Rd. Aug. 20. Cusick was on probation at the time for stealing a car in Cleveland four months earlier. However, he was given probation because of his age.

First, Define The Issue

We are inclined to doubt the Kennedy administration will be able to reform national tariff policy in 1962. There will be too much opposition by deserving enterprises, such as the pottery industry, that want more protection from foreign competitors, instead of less protection that would follow the administration's proposed reform of policy.

The policy in the law that expires next year calls for reciprocal agreements between nations on specific items. This represented a massive policy change when it was introduced during the early New Deal, though it had been proposed as far back as the time of William McKinley.

Far from being the diehard protectionist that history indicates he was, President McKinley argued in the twilight of his public career that protectionism has served its purpose in helping American industry get started but should not be continued beyond its proper point of usefulness. It should protect, not pamper.

But reciprocity's usefulness now is being challenged by President Kennedy and other spokesmen for his administration.

THEIR BELIEF, as laid down in two major addresses by President Kennedy—one to the National Association of Manufacturers, the other to the AFL-CIO convention—is that even modified protectionism must be ditched as far as tariff is concerned; that a brand new policy should be substituted.

Under the new policy, U.S. enterprises needing protection would get it from their government, in the form of public payments to ease their losses under a progressive free trade policy. All other enterprises would compete or perish.

The first step in any important argument is to define the issue. The issue has been defined.

It lies between Americans concerned wholly with the welfare of individual enterprise and Americans concerned with the welfare of the country in its entirety.

The latter are thinking of the ability of the United States to trade successfully with the growing membership of the European Common Market, which is shaping up as a free trade community—no tariff barriers.

THEY ARE EXCITED about the possibility of a new booming, bustling economic community roughly identical with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

They see in the not-too-distant future a United States of Europe living in economic harmony and military cooperation with a United States of America.

They are aware of the dislocations this would cause in individual enterprise in the United States. They know these dislocations would be more severe than those that have been caused by the milder policy of reciprocity.

But in their view there is no alternative. They see this as a golden opportunity to take a stride toward international cooperation.

But having defined the issue, the debaters still must deal with the cold circumstances of political reality. They must remember what politicians never have forgotten without regret—that tariff in the United States is a local issue.

DESTRUCTION of one industry in a single community looms larger to that community and to all others fearful of the same tragedy than the principles and theories of free trade.

The politics of the tariff debate always have reflected this stout conviction that a bird in the hand should be given more consideration than 2, or 200, birds in the bush.

This is going to be the tariff issue in 1962.

If the Kennedy administration could reform national tariff policy in its first try, it would be doing something its predecessors always have thought of doing in perhaps the span of half a generation if they were lucky—longer than that if they ran into real opposition.

Bingo By Any Other Name

When a majority of voters in New York State legalized bingo in 1958, Ohioans who would have liked to legalize bingo thought things were coming their way. Watch New York, they advised, and see how wonderful things will be.

We've been watching.

Things are not wonderful. They are exactly as everybody who knows how gambling corrupts everything it touches said they would be.

A commission appointed by Gov. Rockefeller last Spring is digging up evidence of payoffs and pressure by organized gambling interests. Under the cloak of legality draped over bingo by a popular vote, the fast-buck boys are having a ball. Charities that were going to clean up handsomely are discovering that operators of the game pocket their share of the loot first. "Operating expenses" are high.

Reports of corruption spreading all the way into courts are heard. Though the New York setup was supposed to bar professional baddies from one of their favorite rackets, the baddies are up to their usual tricks.

But here's a noteworthy thing — that Ohioans don't hear any more about how wonderful things would be if bingo were legalized here.

Like any other kind of big-time gambling, bingo attracts the fast-buck boys, and they always misbehave the same way. They try to make their fast bucks faster and faster until they are mowing down everybody who interferes with their get-rich-quick plans.

Bingo in New York State is letting the air out of the farcical argument that legal bingo somehow is less unsavory than illegal bingo. It's the same racket both ways.

Dr. S. E. Daw

The death of Seward E. Daw has deprived Wellsville of a man who exerted a tremendous influence on the community during the many years he served it in various capacities.

Dr. Daw, superintendent of schools for 40 years, was more than an educator. He was also intensely interested in the over-all development of the Wellsville he loved so deeply. Dedicated service in the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club and other organizations striving toward a common goal of civic improvement speaks for itself.

Standing as a lasting monument to his memory is Daw Junior High School, named in his honor several years ago.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Red China says Chinese discovered America, not Columbus. Christopher's first words when his ship sighted land could have been "Ah! Chop suey ahead!" it is implied. First words Columbus heard from Indians were "How!" and "Ugh" and it's possible they meant "no checkee, no shirtee."

Last of the Mohicans could have been preceded by first of the Chinese restaurant men. Sioux Indians were not so hostile; they were just carrying out ancient Chinese philosopher's warning "Watch out for laundromats."

Hiawatha, if Peiping is right, could have been descendant of Ming Dynasty members. Red China appears to be switching Longfellow to read:

Should you ask me whence these stories?
Whence these legends and traditions,
Whence the curling smoke of wigwams?
I should answer, I should tell you,
From the hills and plains of China
And the Valley of the Yangtze

Carrying further into the famous poem of Hiawatha, China would describe gathering of the Indian tribes this way:—

Came the Delawares and Mohawks,
Came the Choctaws and Comanches,
Came the Huron and Ojibways,
Saying "Boy, we pulled a booboo . . .
Injun braves we are by error —
We are Chinese wearing feathers.

Out of childhood into manhood
Grew the great man Hia-wah-tha;
You shall hear how this brave Chinese
Caught the silkworm-eating sturgeon
Fished for yellow perch with chowmein.

Well, it indicates Communist China claim priority rights "on the Shores of Gitche Gumie, by the shining big sea-water' and is out to establish recognition as inventor of the wigwam, birchbark canoe, opium pipe and birds' nest soup.

Small town railroad stations are disappearing all over country, especially in East. New York Central has sold 123, many of which are now run as stores, shops, civic centers and even churches. Progress is progress, but we hate to see the little depots go. They cast a certain spell of less hectic days. In trains flashing past these depots of yesterday we were always carried back to boyhood days in the country, the beauties of the small town and a certain mood of warm neighborliness.

For years they have gone unpainted and unwashed but to millions they brought back memories of visits to the depot to see the trains go by. It seems odd to go into an old railroad station for groceries, a delicatessen sandwich, pots, pans or plumbing fixtures.

National Geographic Society says man can live 1400 years if he learns to hibernate like groundhog. But who wants to spend all that time qualifying as a weather forecaster once a year?

Bartenders have just held championship mixing contest. Such contests are to be encouraged by all consumers who think a little skill, care and artistry should govern cocktails. Vast majority of inns, taverns and bars have bartenders who either haven't a remote idea how to mix a drink properly or are devoting lives to bringing back Volstead law.

There was a time when all bartenders took pains and wanted a reputation for talent. Today it is somewhat hard to locate a barboy who cares whether a Manhattan tastes like a pleasant drink or a carwash, or whether there is any difference between a martini or a varnish-remover.

The tallest of all dog breeds is the Irish wolfhound, the male scaling from 31 to 34 inches and weighing about 120 pounds, on the average, while the female averages 28 inches and 90 pounds.

The expression, "feet of clay," owes its origin to the Bible, Daniel 2:33. The reference concerns an idol — "and the legs of iron, the feet part of iron and part of clay."

Arsonist At Work

Reuther Feels Hoffa Pressure

By Victor Riesel

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. My prime rule for survival at labor conventions is never to be surprised. When I bounced into the seaside palace housing labor's hundreds of national leaders, last week, I ran into Brooklyn dock chief Tony Anastasia discussing the philosophical concepts of modern government and found Pacific Coast sailors eating bagels in the quick snack room. So I was not at all shook up to learn there was a strong and persistent move inside the Auto Workers Union to convince Walter Reuther to tie up with Jimmy Hoffa and the Teamsters.

Victor Riesel

Some of Reuther's top lieutenants have been arguing against battling Hoffa. They've pointed out that the Auto Union's 1,000,023 members, working closely with the Teamsters' 1,450,000 inside the AFL-CIO, would give them a powerful combine of close to three million, if you include the handful of unions which always follow Reuther and Hoffa regardless of policy.

THE POINT is: Would Reuther support moves to bring back the Teamsters?

Obviously not in a blunt maneuver which would open the Auto Union to brutal public relations. But there are other ways to go along. And, remembering that Hoffa had singled the Auto Union out for his special brand of praise during a speech at Mike Quill's Transport Workers Union convention, I put the question recently to Reuther's second-in-command, Emil Mazey, Auto Union secretary - treasurer. Mazey, always militant, never is coy.

"Our union," said Mazey, "is opposed to chartering a new Teamsters union or even new Teamsters locals such as Meany plans. We are already split too much, and we are opposed to further splits.

"The AFL-CIO has never been successful in organizing rival unions. Remember the efforts to fight the International Longshoremen's Association.

"We could not be successful in organizing a rival Teamster union. I've been asked if I'd favor bringing them in if they apply for membership. Well, I'm for setting up a committee to determine whether the causes for expulsion have been corrected. If so, then let's have them in."

JUST HOW MUCH this will impress Reuther, only the redhead knows. But the fact is that as you wander among the hundreds of delegates to this Fourth Biennial AFL-CIO National Convention you realize Reuther truly is a "loner" here.

Hoffa's scouts in the Americana, the convention hotel, spent most of last week rounding up union officials for a special pro-Hoffa caucus Wednesday night. They had the support of Dave McDonald's Steelworkers.

This means that the biggest of the old CIO unions now appears to be swinging to the Hoffa camp.

Many of the other old CIO unions are complaining that Reuther has spent too much time in Detroit and has not given them leadership.

This does not mean they are swinging to the Hoffa camp but that they are not joining with Reuther in any showdown fight with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Reuther has been complaining privately that Mr. Meany is not a sufficiently forceful leader of the AFL-CIO.

Furthermore, there is a general feeling here that Reuther and President John Kennedy are not on the friendliest of political terms. This is a reversal of the early days when it appeared that Reuther was closer to the White House than Meany.

REUTHER HAS long been considered in the Adlai Stevenson-Chester Bowles grouping in the administration.

Reuther and his brother Victor have, indeed, been on extremely intimate terms with Bowles. This enabled them successfully to recommend many of their people for State Department and allied jobs in Washington and overseas.

Now even this influence has been cut by the skillful surgical job John Kennedy is doing on the Bowles - Stevenson group.

This has been accompanied by closer ties between the President and George Meany. It was the latter who went over to the White House and personally invited Kennedy to speak here. It was the latter who has been talking for Labor with JFK on the selection of a new House speaker and a House majority leader.

Add to this growing isolation of Reuther's activities, the attacks on him by the leaders of three million Building and Construction Trades workers.

There has been some rough name calling — such as "collaborator" with the NAM, with the Chamber of Commerce, and with the McClellan committee probers. In these circles this is worse than adverse reflections on motherhood.

SO THERE ARE those around Reuther who say, why not support Jimmy Hoffa? Why not bring him in and operate jointly from a powerful base?

It was exactly 10 months ago that one of Hoffa's lieutenants used a Washington broker as an intermediary to offer Reuther full backing for the presidency of the AFL-CIO — if the Auto Union backs the Teamsters for readmission to the House of Labor.

Hoffa's agents are all over the place still waiting to carry Reuther's message back to the inner sanctum.

Letters To The Editor

Everyone has a right to their own opinion. Freedom of speech, the press, to believe and worship as we please, to choose our own occupation and way of life are what America means.

It also gives us the right to agree or disagree with whom we please. We all look at things differently. Everyone knows that America was built on strong spiritual religious foundations and we make a point of choosing leaders whom we think are sincere, spiritual men.

If it is so important to stand up and be counted as a man, who do not people stay in their own countries and fight it out then and there against whatever reason they use for an excuse to come to America, if fighting it out is correct?

I condemn not, and others condemn not, people for building shelters. I simply believe if the world were not so full of hate and vengeance we wouldn't need them. But now that we have got relationships that are as they are there isn't much choice. We are a peace-loving people but will fight to preserve our peace and principles.

My belief has nothing to do with one religious sect or another. It goes back to a time before the church was begun when 10 simple rules to live by were given. I am undenominational and believe it's right to be first a Christian and an American second. All my life I've been taught the Jewish people prospered as long as they kept the covenant—not when they lived by the sword. I've always believed the book of Isaiah was timeless with insight for the present and future. It doesn't bother me that you can't see. Jesus wept over Jerusalem 2,000 years ago because people could not see.

He realized the only way to help every one would be to die that the Holy spirit could come to all who want to receive and carry on His work to bring His kind of peace to the hearts of men. There is a far greater need for more than shelters. Maybe if we have to spend some time in them we will find time to understand. The kind of peace I have in mind is everlasting, universal for all men. That will come someday through faith and goodness.

NANCY SWARTZ
Wellsville

The purpose of my letter is to publicly thank all of the firemen of the Calcutta Department for their diligence during the fire that destroyed our barn and livestock and the Liverpool Township East department for standing by.

Special thanks to John Johnston of the Beaverkettle Farm and our neighbors in their efforts to arouse my family. That word "thanks" seems such a small word to try to express the great appreciation we have in our hearts.

I feel when Johnston's efforts were so great for a barn and livestock, what would he have endeavored had it been a home and people.

We learned through experience that St. Clair Township Constable McElhaney and Deputy Sheriff Cy Wellman deserve a great praise for their work.

They do more than just work in the line of duty.

SYLVESTER SMITH FAMILY
Sprucevale Rd.

We recently returned to the Tri-State area for a visit. And after seven months away, we were amazed at the changes which have taken place.

The impressive change was in the face-lifting for the new highway. But more than that was the true Christmas theme of many of the floats in the Christmas parade. It was a pleasure and garlands or orchids, pine, holly and mistletoe to any and all responsible for the most beautiful decorations I have ever seen in East Liverpool. The cross on Radio Heights brings one's thoughts back to the spirit of Christmas for many vantage points in the district.

Tax Reform

By David Lawrence

Policy Change Could Spur U. S. Economy

While many members of the National Association of Manufacturers may not have agreed with all that President Kennedy said in his speech to them in New York, they would have to agree that he stated clearly and comprehensively the essentials of his new program for international trade.

David Lawrence

Frankness and forthrightness of statement were never more necessary, and it is to be hoped that this will encourage equal candor and cogency of expression by businessmen.

For, if America is to prosper, if world trade is to increase, and if the Western countries are to succeed in their attempts to improve progressively the position of both labor and industry, then it is important to recognize elementary principles — the things that make the wheels go around, the things that make a profit or loss and the things that bring in revenues to help the federal government balance its budget.

Mr. Kennedy uttered a basic truth in a few sentences that told more of what the problem really is than was revealed in all the rest of the 6,500 words of his speech, when he said:

"To put it on its most narrow basis, we are, in the national government and I know, a rather unpopular partner in every one of your businesses. Our revenues come from you. When you are making profits, then we are able to meet our bills. When you fail, then we fail."

Truer words were never spoken in public affairs but at the same time no principle has been more consistently ignored or violated in the last half-century by Democratic administrations and, to some extent now and then, by Republican administrations.

The position of the government as told again and again to the taxpayer is something like this:

"We know it's unjust, we know it's inequitable, we know it's unfair to apply this rule in taxation but we need the money."

This has been repeated so often that it has become commonplace. Indeed, President Kennedy in his speech on Wednesday twice fell victim to the same sort of advice from his own staff.

He was talking, first, about his request that Congress remove what he calls an "artificial tax preference for American investment in highly developed countries with no capital shortage and the unjustifiable tax avoidance loopholes available to those Americans investing in so-called 'tax-haven' nations."

NOW, NOBODY but a small number of beneficiaries objects to legislation that will remove the "tax-haven" devices which are merely get-rich quick schemes for individuals. But there is a decided objection here to the government's telling businessmen they must stop competing inside France, inside Germany, inside Britain and inside other countries that are highly developed, and instead must turn their attention to investments in the Congo or in those Castro-like countries where the United States doesn't give 10 cents' worth of protection when billions of dollars in American - owned plants and property are being confiscated.

If American companies are to derive benefits from the development of big sales inside the European Common Market area for the goods they produce overseas, they must not be subject to tax handicaps as against their European competitors. Yet Mr. Kennedy says:

"We do not seek to penalize those who wish to invest their capital abroad — we are committed to the free flow of capital — but we also want to make sure that our tax laws do not encourage the outward movement of capital in a way which does not serve our national purpose.

"I am aware that many of you will argue that the investment abroad of these funds will mean that ultimately and in the long run these monies will be coming back. But how long a run?"

THE PRESIDENT is saying, in effect, that America cannot wait. What Mr. Kennedy evidently doesn't realize is that so vital a problem cannot be solved by short-run measures either.

Many American companies operating abroad are sending back to this country today large sums in dividends to be taxed. They are also spending in America money for materials or parts to be processed in their factories abroad. All together, the total often exceeds the amount of capital actually sent abroad. Why stop such a trend and make matters worse?

The President, in the second instance, is yielding to expediency rather than adhering to principles of fairness in taxation when he insists that tax-depreciation allowances must not be materially changed. He concedes that the idea itself is good but nevertheless says:

"So that we're not unsympathetic, and I can think of very few tax changes that would be more useful to the country in stimulating employment and keeping us competitive — particularly with Western Eruope. And the only reason we have not gone further in it, and the only reason we have limited ourselves to the proposal which is now before the House Ways and Means Committee, is because we do not have the available revenue to provide for a tax reduction this year."

Yet a sensible tax policy on depreciation allowances would wipe out deficits and bring surpluses to the U.S. Treasury.

That's why businessmen have come to feel that politically minded administrations fail really to understand what makes the wheels go around, what makes the profits that in turn pile up the revenues to balance the budget, and —most important of all — what creates the jobs that steadily reduce unemployment and bring prosperity to the nation.

Odd Facts

One amazing fact about today's popular travelers cheque is that while it is used as a form of money all over the world, no government has ever backed it and no international organization has ever endorsed it. It is simply "good until used" on the word of a private company, and if the cheques are lost or stolen, the company makes an on-the-spot refund.

First, Define The Issue

We are inclined to doubt the Kennedy administration will be able to reform national tariff policy in 1962. There will be too much opposition by deserving enterprises, such as the pottery industry, that want more protection from foreign competitors, instead of less protection that would follow the administration's proposed reform of policy.

The policy in the law that expires next year calls for reciprocal agreements between nations on specific items. This represented a massive policy change when it was introduced during the early New Deal, though it had been proposed as far back as the time of William McKinley.

Far from being the diehard protectionist that history indicates he was, President McKinley argued in the twilight of his public career that protectionism has served its purpose in helping American industry get started but should not be continued beyond its proper point of usefulness. It should protect, not pamper.

But reciprocity's usefulness now is being challenged by President Kennedy and other spokesmen for his administration.

THEIR BELIEF, as laid down in two major addresses by President Kennedy—one to the National Association of Manufacturers, the other to the AFL-CIO convention—is that even modified protectionism must be ditched as far as tariff is concerned; that a brand new policy should be substituted.

Under the new policy, U.S. enterprises needing protection would get it from their government, in the form of public payments to ease their losses under a progressive free trade policy. All other enterprises would compete or perish.

The first step in any important argument is to define the issue. The issue has been defined.

It lies between Americans concerned wholly with the welfare of individual enterprise and Americans concerned with the welfare of the country in its entirety.

The latter are thinking of the ability of the United States to trade successfully with the growing membership of the European Common Market, which is shaping up as a free trade community—no tariff barriers.

THEY ARE EXCITED about the possibility of a new booming, bustling economic community roughly identical with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

They see in the not-too-distant future a United States of Europe living in economic harmony and military cooperation with a United States of America.

They are aware of the dislocations this would cause in individual enterprise in the United States. They know these dislocations would be more severe than those that have been caused by the milder policy of reciprocity.

But in their view there is no alternative. They see this as a golden opportunity to take a stride toward international cooperation.

But having defined the issue, the debaters still must deal with the cold circumstances of political reality. They must remember what politicians never have forgotten without regret—that tariff in the United States is a local issue.

DESTRUCTION of one industry in a single community looms larger to that community and to all others fearful of the same tragedy than the principles and theories of free trade.

The politics of the tariff debate always have reflected this stout conviction that a bird in the hand should be given more consideration than 2, or 200, birds in the bush.

This is going to be the tariff issue in 1962.

If the Kennedy administration could reform national tariff policy in its first try, it would be doing something its predecessors always have thought of doing in perhaps the span of half a generation if they were lucky—longer than that if they ran into real opposition.

Bingo By Any Other Name

When a majority of voters in New York State legalized bingo in 1958, Ohioans who would have liked to legalize bingo thought things were coming their way. Watch New York, they advised, and see how wonderful things will be.

We've been watching.

Things are not wonderful. They are exactly as everybody who knows how gambling corrupts everything it touches said they would be.

A commission appointed by Gov. Rockefeller last Spring is digging up evidence of payoffs and pressure by organized gambling interests. Under the cloak of legality draped over bingo by a popular vote, the fast-buck boys are having a ball. Charities that were going to clean up handsomely are discovering that operators of the game pocket their share of the loot first. "Operating expenses" are high.

Reports of corruption spreading all the way into courts are heard. Though the New York setup was supposed to bar professional baddies from one of their favorite rackets, the baddies are up to their usual tricks.

But here's a noteworthy thing — that Ohioans don't hear any more about how wonderful things would be if bingo were legalized here.

Like any other kind of big-time gambling, bingo attracts the fast-buck boys, and they always misbehave the same way. They try to make their fast bucks faster and faster until they are mowing down everybody who interferes with their get-rich-quick plans.

Bingo in New York State is letting the air out of the farcical argument that legal bingo somehow is less unsavory than illegal bingo. It's the same racket both ways.

Dr. S. E. Daw

The death of Seward E. Daw has deprived Wellsville of a man who exerted a tremendous influence on the community during the many years he served it in various capacities.

Dr. Daw, superintendent of schools for 40 years, was more than an educator. He was also intensely interested in the over-all development of the Wellsville he loved so deeply. Dedicated service in the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club and other organizations striving toward a common goal of civic improvement speaks for itself.

Standing as a lasting monument to his memory is Daw Junior High School, named in his honor several years ago.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Red China says Chinese discovered America, not Columbus. Christopher's first words when his ship sighted land could have been "Ah! Chop suey ahead!" it is implied. First words Columbus heard from Indians were "How!" and "Ugh" and it's possible they meant "no checkee, no shirtee."

Last of the Mohicans could have been preceded by first of the Chinese restaurant men. Sioux Indians were not so hostile; they were just carrying out ancient Chinese philosopher's warning "Watch out for laundromats."

Hiawatha, if Peiping is right, could have been descendant of Ming Dynasty members. Red China appears to be switching Longfellow to read:

Should you ask me whence these stories?
Whence these legends and traditions,
Whence the curling smoke of wigwams?
I should answer, I should tell you,
From the hills and plains of China
And the Valley of the Yangtze

Carrying further into the famous poem of Hiawatha, China would describe gathering of the Indian tribes this way:—

Came the Delawares and Mohawks,
Came the Choctaws and Comanches,
Came the Huron and Ojibways,
Saying "Boy, we pulled a booboo . . .
Injun braves we are by error —
We are Chinese wearing feathers.

Out of childhood into manhood
Grew the great man Hia-wah-tha;
You shall hear how this brave Chinese
Caught the silkworm-eating sturgeon
Fished for yellow perch with chowmein.

Well, it indicates Communist China claim priority rights "on the Shores of Gitche Gumie, by the shining big sea-water" and is out to establish recognition as inventor of the wigwam, birchbark canoe, opium pipe and birds' nest soup.

Progress is progress, but we hate to see the little depots go. They cast a certain spell of less hectic days. In trains flashing past these depots of yesterday we were always carried back to boyhood days in the country, the beauties of the small town and a certain mood of warm neighborliness.

For years they have gone unpainted and unwashed but to millions they brought back memories of visits to the depot to see the trains go by. It seems odd to go into an old railroad station for groceries, a delicatessen sandwich, pots, pans or plumbing fixtures.

Arsonist At Work

Reuther Feels Hoffa Pressure

By Victor Riesel

BAL HARBOUR, Fla.

My prime rule for survival at labor conventions is never to be surprised. When I bounced into the seaside palace housing labor's hundreds of national leaders, last week, I ran into Brooklyn dock chief Tony Anastasia discussing the philosophical concepts of modern government and found Pacific Coast sailors eating bagels in the quick snack room. So I was not at all shook up to learn there was a strong and persistent move inside the Auto Workers Union to convince Walter Reuther to tie up with Jimmy Hoffa and the Teamsters.

Victor Riesel

Some of Reuther's top lieutenants have been arguing against battling Hoffa. They've pointed out that the Auto Union's 1,000,023 members, working closely with the Teamsters' 1,450,000 inside the AFL-CIO, would give them a powerful combine of close to three million, if you include the handful of unions which always follow Reuther and Hoffa regardless of policy.

THE POINT is: Would Reuther support moves to bring back the Teamsters?

Obviously not in a blunt maneuver which would open the Auto Union to brutal public relations. But there are other ways to go along. And, remembering that Hoffa had singled the Auto Union out for his special brand of praise during a speech at Mike Quill's Transport Workers Union convention, I put the question recently to Reuther's second-in-command, Emil Mazey, Auto Union secretary - treasurer. Mazey, always militant, never is coy.

"Our union," said Mazey, "is opposed to chartering a new Teamsters union or even new Teamsters locals such as Meany plans. We are already split too much, and we are opposed to further splits.

"The AFL-CIO has never been successful in organizing rival unions. Remember the efforts to fight the International Longshoremen's Association.

"We could not be successful in organizing a rival Teamster union. I've been asked if I'd favor bringing them in if they apply for membership. Well, I'm for setting up a committee to determine whether the causes for expulsion have been corrected. If so, then let's have them in."

JUST HOW MUCH this will impress Reuther, only the redhead knows. But the fact is that as you wander among the hundreds of delegates to this Fourth Biennial AFL-CIO National Convention you realize Reuther truly is a "loner" here.

Hoffa's scouts in the Americana, the convention hotel, spent most of last week rounding up union officials for a special pro-Hoffa caucus Wednesday night. They had the support of Dave McDonald's Steelworkers.

This means that the biggest of the old CIO unions now appears to be swinging to the Hoffa camp.

Many of the other old CIO unions are complaining that Reuther has spent too much time in Detroit and has not given them leadership.

This does not mean they are swinging to the Hoffa camp but that they are not joining with Reuther in any showdown fight with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Reuther has been complaining privately that Mr. Meany is not a sufficiently forceful leader of the AFL-CIO.

Furthermore, there is a general feeling here that Reuther and President John Kennedy are not on the friendliest of political terms. This is a reversal of the early days when it appeared that Reuther was closer to the White House than Meany.

REUTHER HAS long been considered in the Adlai Stevenson-Chester Bowles grouping in the administration.

Reuther and his brother Victor have, indeed, been on extremely intimate terms with Bowles. This enabled them successfully to recommend many of their people for State Department and allied jobs in Washington and overseas.

Now even this influence has been cut by the skillful surgical job John Kennedy is doing on the Bowles - Stevenson group.

This has been accompanied by closer ties between the President and George Meany. It was the latter who went over to the White House and personally invited Kennedy to speak here. It was the latter who has been talking for Labor with JFK on the selection of a new House speaker and a House majority leader.

Add to this growing isolation of Reuther's activities, the attacks on him by the leaders of three million Building and Construction Trades workers.

There has been some rough name calling — such as "collaborator" with the NAM, with the Chamber of Commerce, and with the McClellan committee probers. In these circles this is worse than adverse reflections on motherhood.

SO THERE ARE those around Reuther who say, why not support Jimmy Hoffa? Why not bring him in and operate jointly from a powerful base?

It was exactly 10 months ago that one of Hoffa's lieutenants used a Washington broker as an intermediary to offer Reuther full backing for the presidency of the AFL-CIO — if the Auto Union backs the Teamsters for readmission to the House of Labor.

Hoffa's agents are all over the place still waiting to carry Reuther's message back to the inner sanctum.

Letters To The Editor

Everyone has a right to their own opinion. Freedom of speech, the press, to believe and worship as we please, to choose our own occupation and way of life are what America means.

It also gives us the right to agree or disagree with whom we please. We all look at things differently. Everyone knows that America was built on strong spiritual religious foundations and we make a point of choosing leaders whom we think are sincere, spiritual men.

If it is so important to stand up and be counted as a man, who do not people stay in their own countries and fight it out then and there against whatever reason they use for an excuse to come to America, if fighting it out is correct?

I condemn not, and others condemn not, people for building shelters. I simply believe if the world were not so full of hate and vengeance we wouldn't need them. But now that we have got relationships that are as they are there isn't much choice. We are a peace-loving people but will fight to preserve our peace and principles.

My belief has nothing to do with one religious sect or another. It goes back to a time before the church was begun when 10 simple rules to live by were given. I am undenominational and believe it's right to be first a Christian and an American second. All my life I've been taught the Jewish people prospered as long as they kept the covenant—not when they lived by the sword. I've always believed the book of Isaiah was timeless with insight for the present and future. It doesn't bother me that you can't see. Jesus wept over Jerusalem 2,000 years ago because people could not see.

He realized the only way to help every one would be to die that the Holy spirit could come to all who want to receive and carry on His work to bring His kind of peace to the hearts of men. There is a far greater need for more than shelters. Maybe if we have to spend some time in them we will find time to understand. The kind of peace I have in mind is everlasting, universal for all men. That will come someday through faith and goodness.

Special thanks to John Johnston of the Beaverkettle Farm and our neighbors in their efforts to arouse my family. That word "thanks" seems such a small word to try to express the great appreciation we have in our hearts.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Start Enjoying Life Today

The flight announcer's voice resounded through the great European air terminal. Passengers began moving toward the designated gate. One of them, a Frenchman whom I knew slightly, saw me standing there to one side and came over to shake hands. We had a few words together. And as he walked away I called after him, "Enjoy yourself!" He turned, looked at me quizzically with a play of varying emotions on his face and asked, "Is it possible to enjoy life in this world?" Then without waiting for an answer he went through the gate and was lost to sight.

I UNDERSTOOD his question very well. He was referring of course to the upset conditions in the world; the fear and restlessness; the international turmoil; the spector of atomic holocaust. The gloom behind that question is widespread both in Europe and increasingly here in the United States.

But for this defeated state of mind there is an answer. It is by filling your mind with the great truths and teachings of the Scriptures.

There has never been a lack of upheaval in the world. There has never been a time when anybody was guaranteed security from loss, deprivation, pain, sorrow or possible sudden death.

But when our trust is in God and our hearts are strengthened by Him, we can enjoy life notwithstanding its insecurities and problems. "I sought the Lord," said David, "and He heard me and delivered me from all my fears." It is the same today. If we truly seek the Lord we gain deliverance from sorrow and anxiety. Faith conquers fear.

The biggest actual barrier to enjoying life is not turmoil or insecurity, but moral wrong doing. My mail brings many personal stories illustrating this. I received a letter from a young lady 16 years of age describing how she started going around with certain girls who prided themselves on doing forbidden things for thrills. One day she went shopping with one of them, a girl named Helen.

—:—

"WE WERE looking at belts," she writes, "and Helen tried one on. Then when she saw that no one was looking she put on her coat and walked away with the belt! Seeing her get away it, I followed suit. I took a bracelet, too. Now there was no reason at all why I should do something like that. Our family is well off and I have enough money. It was just the idea of getting away with something, I guess. Well, it seems there had been a lot of shoplifting going on, because some detectives came to our school. They knew I had stolen some things, because I had bragged about it to a few of my friends. They just gave me a warning. But the embarrassment was terrible. My parents were heartbroken. My sorority put me on probation.

"Next I went to a party at Helen's house. We drank most of her parents' liquor. The whole group was drinking, but it only affected three of us. I was completely drunk. It got around, and I was kicked out of the sorority. I never felt so low, so embarrassed or so ashamed.

"Then a friend wrote me a letter telling me every thing would turn out right if I would make myself right with God. It was then that I realized how much I needed Him."

Unconsciously she had assumed, you see, that she didn't need God. But without Him we presently become aware that the radiance and zest have somehow gone out of living. Then comes the turning to thrills for enjoyment. This youngster was lucky that she came so early to a turning back from that path. "I began going to church regularly," she continues, "and even attending Youth Group. God solved everything for me. I have been accepted by my old friends. I still have plenty of dates. A friend in the sorority tells me it is possible I may be reinstated. Everything is wonderful. I'm even officer at Youth Group. I believe God used that trouble I got into so I would discover him."

Those who seek the Lord and start living according to His guidance can leave anxiety and unhappiness behind and have a life full of joy.

Carpenter Gets Patent On Device

George M. Miller, 42, of Kelly Ave., a carpenter, said he has obtained a patent on a light-reflecting device for darkrooms and has also invented a pressure top for carbonated beverages and a new type of weatherseal.

The chrome - lined plastic tube, fitted at one end with a red reflector bubble, can be used by photographers to observe if the darkroom's red or white lights are burning without opening the door.

Miller explained that light from a bulb can be reflected through the tube from the source to the end of the device in another room. The device could be produced inexpensively, he said.

Formal Opening Set Sunday For New Church

Formal opening of the new Anderson Methodist Church on the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The red brick structure a short distance from Route 170 has an auditorium seating about 170 and an overflow room for 40. There are nine Sunday School rooms, including a nursery and a kitchen and a modern heating plant.

The main sanctuary section is one story, although the remainder of the building has a basement, making it the equivalent of two stories.

The congregation formerly worshipped in a structure on W. 9th St. that was taken for the Freeway project in 1960, forcing the group to move.

Officials of the congregation have prepared a program in which former pastors and friends of the original Anderson Church on W. 9th will be recognized.

Principal speaker will be Dr. C. W. Stoneburner, Steubenville District superintendent.

Another highlight will be the presentation of the officials of the Steubenville District and leaders of the North - East Ohio Conference.

Representatives of the Potters Construction Co., which had the contract to erect the building, and Glen Bickerstaff, architect, will also attend.

The program has been arranged by a committee consisting of Roland Edgar, John Call, Mrs. Margaret Hickey and Mrs. Mae Hall. The committee was appointed from the Building Commission of the church.

Transportation will be provided with the bus leaving the terminal at 2 p. m., and traveling the usual Sunday route. The bus will leave the church at 4 p. m.

The Rev. George H. Johnston is pastor.

Carpenter Gets Patent On Device

George M. Miller, 42, of Kelly Ave., a carpenter, said he has obtained a patent on a light-reflecting device for darkrooms and has also invented a pressure top for carbonated beverages and a new type of weatherseal.

The chrome - lined plastic tube, fitted at one end with a red reflector bubble, can be used by photographers to observe if the darkroom's red or white lights are burning without opening the door.

Miller explained that light from a bulb can be reflected through the tube from the source to the end of the device in another room. The device could be produced inexpensively, he said.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Start Enjoying Life Today

The flight announcer's voice resounded through the great European air terminal. Passengers began moving toward the designated gate. One of them, a Frenchman whom I knew slightly, saw me standing there to one side and came over to shake hands. We had a few words together. And as he walked away I called after him, "Enjoy yourself!" He turned, looked at me quizzically with a play of varying emotions on his face and asked, "Is it possible to enjoy life in this world?" Then without waiting for an answer he went through the gate and was lost to sight.

I UNDERSTOOD his question very well. He was referring of course to the upset conditions in the world; the fear and restlessness; the international turmoil; the spector of atomic holocaust. The gloom behind that question is widespread both in Europe and increasingly here in the United States.

But for this defeated state of mind there is an answer. It is by filling your mind with the great truths and teachings of the Scriptures.

There has never been a lack of upheaval in the world. There has never been a time when anybody was guaranteed security from loss, deprivation, pain, sorrow or possible sudden death.

But when our trust is in God and our hearts are strengthened by Him, we can enjoy life notwithstanding its insecurities and problems. "I sought the Lord," said David, "and He heard me and delivered me from all my fears." It is the same today. If we truly seek the Lord we gain deliverance from sorrow and anxiety. Faith conquers fear.

The biggest actual barrier to enjoying life is not turmoil or insecurity, but moral wrong doing. My mail brings many personal stories illustrating this. I received a letter from a young lady 16 years of age describing how she started going around with certain girls who prided themselves on doing forbidden things for thrills. One day she went shopping with one of them, a girl named Helen.

—:—

"WE WERE looking at belts," she writes, "and Helen tried one on. Then when she saw that no one was looking she put on her coat and walked away with the belt! Seeing her get away it, I followed suit. I took a bracelet, too. Now there was no reason at all why I should do something like that. Our family is well off and I have enough money. It was just the idea of getting away with something, I guess. Well, it seems there had been a lot of shoplifting going on, because some detectives came to our school. They knew I had stolen some things, because I had bragged about it to a few of my friends. They just gave me a warning. But the embarrassment was terrible. My parents were heartbroken. My sorority put me on probation.

"Next I went to a party at Helen's house. We drank most of her parents' liquor. The whole group was drinking, but it only affected three of us. I was completely drunk. It got around, and I was kicked out of the sorority. I never felt so low, so embarrassed or so ashamed.

"Then a friend wrote me a letter telling me every thing would turn out right if I would make myself right with God. It was then that I realized how much I needed Him."

Unconsciously she had assumed, you see, that she didn't need God. But without Him we presently become aware that the radiance and zest have somehow gone out of living. Then comes the turning to thrills for enjoyment. This youngster was lucky that she came so early to a turning back from that path. "I began going to church regularly," she continues, "and even attending Youth Group. God solved everything for me. I have been accepted by my old friends. I still have plenty of dates. A friend in the sorority tells me it is possible I may be reinstated. Everything is wonderful. I'm even officer at Youth Group. I believe God used that trouble I got into so I would discover him."

Those who seek the Lord and start living according to His guidance can leave anxiety and unhappiness behind and have a life full of joy.

Association At Longs Run Ends 'Book Of John' Study

The Bible study on the "Book of John" was concluded at the circle meetings of the Women's Association of the Longs Run United Presbyterian Church Thursday night.

The Naomi Ruth Circle held a coverdish dinner in the social rooms. Fifteen attended. The table was centered with a white tree, flanked by red tapers. Guests were Mrs. George Hargraves, Mrs. Robert Fogal and Miss Candy Fisher.

Mrs. Velma Van Lehn was assisted with the study of "John" by Mrs. Marge Dray, Mrs. Zera Ward, Mrs. Jackie Fisher, Mrs. Barbara Thompson, Miss Della Ingles, Mrs. Harriet Entriken, Mrs. JoAnn Fisher and Mrs. Barbara Dray. Circle prayers concluded the general discussion.

Mrs. Entriken conducted the mission study on "What Happens In a Crisis," from the book, "One Thing Needful."

Poetry was read by Mrs. Jackie Fisher, "Four Kings of Christmas," and Mrs. Thompson, "What Shall We Offer the King."

Mrs. Barbara Dray, circle chairman, conducted the final business meeting for the group. Members will meet Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home to pack cheer baskets. The group presented the chairman a gift.

Mrs. Marge Dray presented birthday cakes, in the shape of Christmas trees and on revolving stands, to Mrs. Jackie Fisher and Mrs. Jo Ann Fisher for their birthday anniversaries.

Mrs. Allen Dunn of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd., was hostess for the Priscilla Circle. Mrs. Lee Myers continued the Bible study on John, which she conducted at the last meeting.

Members discussed prophesies from the old Testament concerning Christmas. Circle prayers followed.

Mrs. Delmar Hayes, circle chairman, concluded the business for the year. The sewing group will meet Thursday morning with Mrs. Mary Skelton of Calcutta.

Midland's Exhibition Streak Hits 3 After 69-48 Win

Aloi, Lake Team For 47 Markers

By ANDY NUZZO

Forward Al Aloi and guard Rich Lake provided the scoring punch for Hank Kuzma's Midland Leopards as they rolled to an easy 69-48 victory over Pittsburgh Westinghouse before a highly-partisan crowd at Midland Friday night.

Together Aloi and Lake combined for 47 of the 69 points scored by the Leopards. Aloi pounded the nets for 25 points and Lake hooped 22. Aloi led the Leopard attack in the first half, scoring 15 points, while Lake sparked Midland in the second half with 11 points.

Aloi was most effective with a jump shot from around the key. Lake hit long jumpers from the top of the key mixed with some fine driving lay-ups.

The Leopards hit on 25 of 57 points shots for 43 per cent. Westinghouse hit on only 14 out of 75 shots for a poor 19 per cent.

Midland out-rebounded the taller Westinghouse squad, 53-27. Bill Sallis and Sam Forester dominated the boards once again. Sallis pulled down 12 rebounds and Forester grabbed 9.

Westinghouse was led by its sharp - shooting guard, Allen Lee, who managed 17 points before fouling out early in the fourth quarter.

Midland jumped off to a quick 9-1 lead and was never headed. Westinghouse closed the gap to 12-9 late in the first stanza, but Midland scored nine straight points and had a commanding 21-9 lead at the quarter. Aloi hit for 11 points in the first quarter.

The Leopards built up their lead in the second quarter and retired at halftime with a 37-24 lead.

In the third quarter, the Leopards added more to their lead, with Lake having his best quarter, scoring eight points, and Midland had Westinghouse down, 54-39, going into the final quarter.

The fourth stanza was the best for the Leopards defensively, limiting Westinghouse to only one field goal. Lee scored the field goal at the outset of the quarter.

The second half was marred by a lot of fouling by both squads.

The victory was the third in three games for Midland. Westinghouse absorbed its second defeat in four starts.

In the preliminary game, Ed Olkowski's Midland JV squad trounced the Westinghouse JV squad, 56-33, for its 21st consecutive victory. Ray Hoppa led the Midland JV's with 14 points.

Next Tuesday night the Leopards will play host to the Elwood City - Wampum High School squad, coached by Butler L. Hennon.

Lucas' 27 Paces OSU Win

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

The bigger they are, the harder they fall—so something's gotta give tonight when top-ranked Ohio State invades Winston-Salem, N. C., for a college basketball joust with Wake Forest, pegged No. 3 nationally.

The Buckeyes warmed up to the task Friday night with an easy 85-62 victory over Wichita at home. The triumph extended Ohio State's unbeaten streak to three while the Shockers tasted defeat for the first time in five outings.

Two-time All-America Jerry Lucas, a question mark before the game because of his chronic knee trouble, played with a heavily bandaged right knee. The 6-8 Ohio State phenom saw less than 23 minutes of action and still managed to click for 27 points.

Lucas' ailing knees acted up against Pittsburgh last Wednesday, and his availability against Wichita was up in the air until game time. Whether he will be up to par tonight remains to be seen.

Wake Forest, which won its first two starts against Davidson and North Carolina State, is well rested and also has the advantage of being at home. The Deacons are powered by 6-8, 240-pound Len Chappell, the Atlantic Coast Conference's leading scorer last season.

Southern California (No. 4) and Duke (No. 7) were the only other members of the top 10 teams in the preseason Associated Press poll to see action Friday night. The USC Trojans turned back Kansas 78-70 for their fourth straight success, and Duke's Blue Devils overpowered Louisville 86-56 to stretch their victory skein to three.

Wilt Bags Record 78 Points But Warriors Lose, 151-147

By JIM WALTERS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain definitely was unhappy. He slouched his huge 7-foot-plus frame onto a tiny stool in a corner of the Philadelphia Warriors dressing room, a picture of dejection, seemingly too tired to move an inch.

He had just scored 78 points for a new National Basketball Association record.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Wilt, "It's just 78 points down the drain. We lost the game."

Lost it the Warriors did, 151-147 in three overtimes Friday night, but through no fault of the slender-looking man they call "The Stilt." He had 31 field goals, 16 free throws, grabbed 43 of the Warriors' 98 rebounds and played every minute—giving him 24 consecutive games without a moment of rest during play.

Coach Frank McGuire said he thought Wilt might have scored 100 points except the Lakers—led by the faultless Elgin Baylor — used a defense that collapsed five men back around Wilt when the Warriors tried to pass to him.

Over in the Lakers' dressing room, Elgin Baylor—the man whose 71 points previously were the NBA single-game record—didn't seem a bit unhappy.

"Wilt can have all the records just so we win the games," said Baylor, who tallied 63 himself.

The win kept the Lakers, who trailed most of the game, atop the Western Division by 5½ games. The Warriors are second in the Eastern Division, 6½ games behind Boston, which defeated Syracuse, 123-111, despite 32 points by Larry Costello — including 13 straight field goals for a new NBA record. Cincinnati clung to second place in the Western Divison by beating St. Louis, 128-123; and Detroit topped Chicago, 133-107, in the opener of the doubleheader here.

6 District Hunters Bag Deer In W. Va.

Six area hunters have returned from a deer hunting trip in Moorefield, W. Va., where they bagged an eight-point buck.

Making the trip were John Geer and Harold M. Finkbeiner, both of Washington St., Newell; Alvin Hillyard Jr. and Lawrence Cullifer of Chester R.D. 1, William Greenwood of Rogers and Dennis Pringle of Beach City.

Cincinnati has a working agreement with San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

Avella Bows To Panthers In Opener

Chester High stepped off on the right foot Friday night by crushing Avella, (Pa.), 53-36, at the Chester High gym.

The visiting Avella five fell behind from the opening tipoff and was never in front of Coach Max Tuttle's Panthers who got their 1961-62 cage season underway.

Junior letter winner Jim Tridico fired in 16 points to lead the Purple and Gold while the all-around floor man, Jerry Smith, found the range for 14 markers.

This one-two punch was backed up by a nine-point performance from senior Blaine Pinney while Jim Conkle added seven points and Bob Myers dropped in five.

The Panthers were fair from the foul line, converting 15 of 22 attempts while outdistancing their opponents from the field, 19-16.

Chester grabbed a 17-6 lead at the end of the first quarter and swept to a 25-11 margin at halftime.

Avella's only threat of the game came when the third quarter opened. The Pennsylvania five gave Chester a scare by opening the second half with eight straight points, a flurry which brought the score to 25-19.

This was as close as Chester allowed its foe. The Panthers went on to take a 46-26 lead after three periods.

Avella's Cruny led the losers with 13 points.

Chester travels to New Cumberland for its second contest of the season Tuesday night.

The Chester reserves made it a clean sweep by scoring a 39-19 victory in the preliminary.

Giants, Eagles Tangle Sunday In 'Must Game'

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants, smarting from defeat, and the Philadelphia Eagles, fresh from two of their finest performances, square off Sunday in Philadelphia with the victor grabbing a one-game lead in the National Football League's Eastern Conference.

This will be the second meeting of the Giants and the defending champions. New York won the first clash 38-21 four weeks ago, but the Giants face a more potent Eagle offense in this return match.

Sonny Jurgensen, the Eagles' pass master and responsible for far more than half of their total yardage, was hampered by a sore foot in the Nov. 12 encounter which saw the Giants strike for two quick touchdowns and break ahead 14-0. The Eagles never recovered.

Jurgensen, however, has fully recovered from the sore foot. The former Duke ace has tossed seven touchdown passes in Philadelphia's last two games.

The two teams will enter the game with identical 9-3 records.

The Cleveland Browns, only other club with a chance of winning the Eastern crown, visit the Bears in Chicago and must beat the Bruins to remain in the running. Cleveland is 8-4, trailing the deadlocked Giants and Eagles by one game. Chicago is 6-6.

It's already over except the shouting in the Western Conference. The Green Bay Packers wrapped up the title last Sunday by spanking the Giants 20-17 and can use Sunday's game at San Francisco (6-5-1) and their Dec. 17 tilt at Los Angeles to warm up for the NFL championship showdown at Green Bay Dec. 31. The Packers are 10-2.

With championship matters out of the way, interest in the West shifts to the runnerup team which will get a trip to Miami Jan. 6 to meet the East runnerup in the Runnerup Bowl. The Detroit Lions now in second place with a 7-4-1 record, are host to Minnesota (3-9) Sunday. Third place Baltimore faced the Rams in Los Angeles today.

Other games Sunday send Dallas (4-7-1) to St. Louis (5-7) and Pittsburgh (5-7) to Washington (0-11-1).

Kansas City Notches 5th Straight In ABL

By The Associated Press

The Kansas City Steers are on a 5-game winning streak in the American Basketball League.

The latest conquest in the string for the Western Division leaders came Friday night, a 117-99 stampede of the Chicago Majors. In the other scheduled ABL game the San Francisco Saints whipped the Hawaii Chiefs 98-88.

Nick Mantis, with 26 points, sparked Kansas City as the Steers widened their lead over Los Angeles to four games.

Vikings Fail To Overtake Raider Five

Behind 46-32 starting the fourth quarter, Coach John Robison's Vikings put on an all-out effort that just missed as Newell dropped a 59-56 thriller to rival New Cumberland Friday night on the Wells High floor.

The loss was Newell's first in two starts while New Cumberland picked up its second win in three outings.

Senior Mick Staley and junior marksman Dave Bell led an awesome fourth quarter rally that almost caught the visiting Blue Raiders.

Facing a 14-point deficit with only eight minutes to go, Staley tossed in nine of his 18 points in the final period and Bell dropped in six to lead the charge.

Newell pulled within two points on one occasion, 53-51, but New Cumberland pulled away again to chalk up the narrow victory.

The Vikings received a tough break when Bell fouled out with four minutes still remaining, but Staley continued to carry the load.

New Cumberland led at the first quarter 15-10 and showed a 34-20 margin at halftime.

The Raiders' balanced attack paid off in the end as three starters hit in the double figures. Ken Freshwater led the way with 15 while Gary Nardo, a 6-foot-4 senior, popped in 14 and Allen Katzenmeyer added 12.

Bell paced Newell with 20, while Staley wound up with 18 and sophomore Jim Johnson showed a total of 10.

New Cumberland swept a twinbill by taking the reserve contest, 48-42.

Fullmer To Risk Title Tonight In Bout With Paret

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Confusion in the middleweight boxing division may become even more muddled tonight when the title claimant, Gene Fullmer of Utah, and welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba collide in a 15-round match.

At stake in the nationally televised attraction—ABC 10 p.m., EST—is 30-year-old Fullmer's National Boxing Association version of the world championship.

Fullmer figured to weigh just under the 160-pound limit and Paret, ambitious king of the 147-pounders, about 155.

The 24-year-old Cuban seeks to become the first fighter to win and hold two titles simultaneously since Henry Armstrong ruled three divisions — featherweight, lightweight and welterweight — two decades ago.

Midland's Exhibition Streak Hits 3 After 69-48 Win

Aloi, Lake Team For 47 Markers

By ANDY NUZZO

Forward Al Aloi and guard Rich Lake provided the scoring punch for Hank Kuzma's Midland Leopards as they rolled to an easy 69-48 victory over Pittsburgh Westinghouse before a highly-partisan crowd at Midland Friday night.

Together Aloi and Lake combined for 47 of the 69 points scored by the Leopards. Aloi pounded the nets for 25 points and Lake hooped 22. Aloi led the Leopard attack in the first half, scoring 15 points, while Lake sparked Midland in the second half with 11 points.

Aloi was most effective with a jump shot from around the key. Lake hit long jumpers from the top of the key mixed with some fine driving lay-ups.

The Leopards hit on 25 of 57 points shots for 43 per cent. Westinghouse hit on only 14 out of 75 shots for a poor 19 per cent.

Midland out-rebounded the taller Westinghouse squad, 53-27. Bill Sallis and Sam Forester dominated the boards once again. Sallis pulled down 12 rebounds and Forester grabbed 9.

Westinghouse was led by its sharp - shooting guard, Allen Lee, who managed 17 points before fouling out early in the fourth quarter.

Midland jumped off to a quick 9-1 lead and was never headed. Westinghouse closed the gap to 12-9 late in the first stanza, but Midland scored nine straight points and had a commanding 21-9 lead at the quarter. Aloi hit for 11 points in the first quarter.

The Leopards built up their lead in the second quarter and retired at halftime with a 37-24 lead.

In the third quarter, the Leopards added more to their lead, with Lake having his best quarter, scoring eight points, and Midland had Westinghouse down, 54-39, going into the final quarter.

The fourth stanza was the best for the Leopards defensively, limiting Westinghouse to only one field goal. Lee scored the field goal at the outset of the quarter.

The second half was marred by a lot of fouling by both squads.

The victory was the third in three games for Midland. Westinghouse absorbed its second defeat in four starts.

In the preliminary game, Ed Olkowski's Midland JV squad trounced the Westinghouse JV squad, 56-33, for its 21st consecutive victory. Ray Hoppa led the Midland JV's with 14 points.

Next Tuesday night the Leopards will play host to the Elwood City - Wampum High School squad, coached by Butler L. Hennon.

Lucas' 27 Paces OSU Win

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

The bigger they are, the harder they fall—so something's gotta give tonight when top-ranked Ohio State invades Winston-Salem, N. C., for a college basketball joust with Wake Forest, pegged No. 3 nationally.

The Buckeyes warmed up to the task Friday night with an easy 85-62 victory over Wichita at home. The triumph extended Ohio State's unbeaten streak to three while the Shockers tasted defeat for the first time in five outings.

Two-time All-America Jerry Lucas, a question mark before the game because of his chronic knee trouble, played with a heavily bandaged right knee. The 6-8 Ohio State phenom saw less than 23 minutes of action and still managed to click for 27 points.

Lucas' ailing knees acted up against Pittsburgh last Wednesday, and his availability against Wichita was up in the air until game time. Whether he will be up to par tonight remains to be seen.

Wake Forest, which won its first two starts against Davidson and North Carolina State, is well rested and also has the advantage of being at home. The Deacons are powered by 6-8, 240-pound Len Chappell, the Atlantic Coast Conference's leading scorer last season.

Southern California (No. 4) and Duke (No. 7) were the only other members of the top 10 teams in the preseason Associated Press poll to see action Friday night. The USC Trojans turned back Kansas 78-70 for their fourth straight success, and Duke's Blue Devils overpowered Louisville 86-56 to stretch their victory skein to three.

Wilt Bags Record 78 Points But Warriors Lose, 151-147

By JIM WALTERS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain definitely was unhappy. He slouched his huge 7-foot-plus frame onto a tiny stool in a corner of the Philadelphia Warriors dressing room, a picture of dejection, seemingly too tired to move an inch.

He had just scored 78 points for a new National Basketball Association record.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Wilt, "It's just 78 points down the drain. We lost the game."

Lost it the Warriors did, 151-147 in three overtimes Friday night, but through no fault of the slender-looking man they call "The Stilt." He had 31 field goals, 16 free throws, grabbed 43 of the Warriors' 98 rebounds and played every minute—giving him 24 consecutive games without a moment of rest during play.

Coach Frank McGuire said he thought Wilt might have scored 100 points except the Lakers—led by the faultless Elgin Baylor — used a defense that collapsed five men back around Wilt when the Warriors tried to pass to him.

Over in the Lakers' dressing room, Elgin Baylor—the man whose 71 points previously were the NBA single-game record—didn't seem a bit unhappy.

"Wilt can have all the records just so we win the games," said Baylor, who tallied 63 himself.

The win kept the Lakers, who trailed most of the game, atop the Western Division by 5½ games. The Warriors are second in the Eastern Division, 6½ games behind Boston, which defeated Syracuse, 123-111, despite 32 points by Larry Costello — including 13 straight field goals for a new NBA record. Cincinnati clung to second place in the Western Divison by beating St. Louis, 128-123; and Detroit topped Chicago, 133-107, in the opener of the doubleheader here.

Avella Bows To Panthers In Opener

Chester High stepped off on the right foot Friday night by crushing Avella, (Pa.), 53-36, at the Chester High gym.

The visiting Avella five fell behind from the opening tipoff and was never in front of Coach Max Tuttle's Panthers who got their 1961-62 cage season underway.

Junior letter winner Jim Tridico fired in 16 points to lead the Purple and Gold while the all-around floor man, Jerry Smith, found the range for 14 markers.

This one-two punch was backed up by a nine-point performance from senior Blaine Pinney while Jim Conkle added seven points and Bob Myers dropped in five.

The Panthers were fair from the foul line, converting 15 of 22 attempts while outdistancing their opponents from the field, 19-16.

Chester grabbed a 17-6 lead at the end of the first quarter and swept to a 25-11 margin at halftime.

Avella's only threat of the game came when the third quarter opened. The Pennsylvania five gave Chester a scare by opening the second half with eight straight points, a flurry which brought the score to 25-19.

This was as close as Chester allowed its foe. The Panthers went on to take a 46-26 lead after three periods.

Avella's Cruny led the losers with 13 points.

Chester travels to New Cumberland for its second contest of the season Tuesday night.

The Chester reserves made it a clean sweep by scoring a 39-19 victory in the preliminary.

Giants, Eagles Tangle Sunday In 'Must Game'

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants, smarting from defeat, and the Philadelphia Eagles, fresh from two of their finest performances, square off Sunday in Philadelphia with the victor grabbing a one-game lead in the National Football League's Eastern Conference.

This will be the second meeting of the Giants and the defending champions. New York won the first clash 38-21 four weeks ago, but the Giants face a more potent Eagle offense in this return match.

Sonny Jurgensen, the Eagles' pass master and responsible for far more than half of their total yardage, was hampered by a sore foot in the Nov. 12 encounter which saw the Giants strike for two quick touchdowns and break ahead 14-0. The Eagles never recovered.

Jurgensen, however, has fully recovered from the sore foot. The former Duke ace has tossed seven touchdown passes in Philadelphia's last two games.

The two teams will enter the game with identical 9-3 records.

The Cleveland Browns, only other club with a chance of winning the Eastern crown, visit the Bears in Chicago and must beat the Bruins to remain in the running. Cleveland is 8-4, trailing the deadlocked Giants and Eagles by one game. Chicago is 6-6.

It's already over except the shouting in the Western Conference. The Green Bay Packers wrapped up the title last Sunday by spanking the Giants 20-17 and can use Sunday's game at San Francisco (6-5-1) and their Dec. 17 tilt at Los Angeles to warm up for the NFL championship showdown at Green Bay Dec. 31. The Packers are 10-2.

With championship matters out of the way, interest in the West shifts to the runnerup team which will get a trip to Miami Jan. 6 to meet the East runnerup in the Runnerup Bowl. The Detroit Lions now in second place with a 7-4-1 record, are host to Minnesota (3-9) Sunday. Third place Baltimore faced the Rams in Los Angeles today.

Other games Sunday send Dallas (4-7-1) to St. Louis (5-7) and Pittsburgh (5-7) to Washington (0-11-1).

Nick Mantis, with 26 points, sparked Kansas City as the Steers widened their lead over Los Angeles to four games.

Vikings Fail To Overtake Raider Five

Behind 46-32 starting the fourth quarter, Coach John Robison's Vikings put on an all-out effort that just missed as Newell dropped a 59-56 thriller to rival New Cumberland Friday night on the Wells High floor.

The loss was Newell's first in two starts while New Cumberland picked up its second win in three outings.

Senior Mick Staley and junior marksman Dave Bell led an awesome fourth quarter rally that almost caught the visiting Blue Raiders.

Facing a 14-point deficit with only eight minutes to go, Staley tossed in nine of his 18 points in the final period and Bell dropped in six to lead the charge.

Newell pulled within two points on one occasion, 53-51, but New Cumberland pulled away again to chalk up the narrow victory.

The Vikings received a tough break when Bell fouled out with four minutes still remaining, but Staley continued to carry the load.

New Cumberland led at the first quarter 15-10 and showed a 34-20 margin at halftime.

The Raiders' balanced attack paid off in the end as three starters hit in the double figures. Ken Freshwater led the way with 15 while Gary Nardo, a 6-foot-4 senior, popped in 14 and Allen Katzenmeyer added 12.

Bell paced Newell with 20, while Staley wound up with 18 and sophomore Jim Johnson showed a total of 10.

New Cumberland swept a twinbill by taking the reserve contest, 48-42.

Fullmer To Risk Title Tonight In Bout With Paret

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Confusion in the middleweight boxing division may become even more muddled tonight when the title claimant, Gene Fullmer of Utah, and welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba collide in a 15-round match.

At stake in the nationally televised attraction—ABC 10 p.m., EST—is 30-year-old Fullmer's National Boxing Association version of the world championship.

Fullmer figured to weigh just under the 160-pound limit and Paret, ambitious king of the 147-pounders, about 155.

The 24-year-old Cuban seeks to become the first fighter to win and hold two titles simultaneously since Henry Armstrong ruled three divisions — featherweight, lightweight and welterweight — two decades ago.

Powerful Stanton Local Rolls Over Salineville, 70-23

Spires Opens Season With 25; Irons Eye Second Tonight

SALINEVILLE — Don "Wilt" Spires, Stanton Local's 6-foot-6 giant, outscored Salineville High by himself, but his teammates threw in a few points too for a lopsided 70-23 win here Friday night.

Coach Harry Diehl's Irons, who seem more powerful than last year when they went on a 19-game winning streak, led all the way in the season's opener.

Meanwhile, Coach Al Girone's undermanned Salineville five dropped its third game in as many starts.

Spires, Stanton's "Mr. Inside," fired in 25 points coming mostly on jump shots from around the hoop. His total showed 12 field goals and three charity tosses. He was a first team All-Ohio selection last season.

Irondale's "Mr. Outside" Bob Mills, shooting his jump shot from various angles, wound up with 18 markers.

Jim Leedy, a 6-foot-2 performer, made his way into the double figures with 15 to round out a balanced attack from Stanton's three big men.

The Irondale five grabbed a 17-3 lead at the end of the first quarter and the halftime score read 32-11. It was increased to 53-17 after three periods as Diehl got the most mileage out of his regulars since it was the season's opener.

Salineville's Jack Baker scored 11 points, almost half of his team's total.

Stanton Local goes after its second straight playing its home opener tonight against Wayne. Salineville will travel to Crestview tonight.

The Stanton reserves finished on top, 51-45 in last night's preliminary battle.

The contest marked the opener for Coach Len Batcha's Leetonia five while North Lima realized its first win in three starts.

Mike Reed paved the way for his team with 18 points while Leetonia was led by Rush Lehman's 13 points and a 12-point performance from Jay Holloway.

Steelers Sign OSU Fullback

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers have signed their No. 1 draft choice—fullback Bob Ferguson of Ohio State—to a 1962 contract.

A spokesman for the National Football League team said the All-America inked a pact Friday in Columbus before assistant Steeler coach Mike Nixon.

The spokesman said Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes and two Pittsburgh Pirate officials — General Manager Joe L. Brown and President John W. Galbreath — played an instrumental role in the Steeler negotiations.

The signing of Ferguson gives the NFL a victory over the rival American Football League. The San Diego Chargers, top team in the AFL, had drafted Ferguson also and Charger coach Sid Gillman was in Columbus all week trying to sign the Troy, Ohio, native.

Field Trial Slated

Field trials will be held by the East Liverpool Beagle Club Sunday at the club grounds along the Y. & O. Rd. between Glenmoor and Rock Camp. Drawings will be held at 9 for members and others interested. Alfred Bayliss is field trial secretary.

Wellsville Shows Deficit Of $942 After '61 Season

Gate receipts for Wellsville High School's home football games in 1961 nosedived rapidly after a brisk sale of tickets for the season's opener with Freedom.

Receipts for the Freedom game totaled $1,354—the year's best—and then Nicholson Stadium crowds dwindled as the season rolled along.

The season closed with receipts of only $639.40 for the Tigers' finale against Warren St. Mary's, according to the football financial report compiled by Don Lowe, faculty manager.

Next best gate was for the Salem game, but rceeipts here were lower than in years. Lowe attributed a small following of Salem fans to Wellsville as a major reason for a deficit of $942.89 for the year's football program.

Ticket sales for the Salem game amounted to only $148 at Salem. "The gate was very disappointing, as we took $1,498 over there last year," Lowe told the Athletic Board Thursday night.

Wellsville actually lost $1,805 in football in 1961, but a surplus on hand at the beginning of the year shaved the deficit to $942.89. The school finished well in the black in 1960.

Lowe told the board that basketball receipts this year could help clear away the football deficit. "With a break in basketball, we should be all right," he said.

The Tigers will play nine home cage games and the school will receive 25 per cent of the profits of the Midland holiday tournament.

The board, meeting in Daw Junior High School, also received a $284 bill from Dr. D. Y. Campbell for physical examinations of varsity and junior high school players and treatments of several who had been injured.

The itemized statement listed $90 for physical examinations for 45 varsity players, $116 for physical exams for 58 junior high players, $27 for three office calls of performers and $51 for seven treated for injuries.

The board said it was "a jar to hear the report", but agreed to pay on the account after a brief discussion. It was pointed out that Dr. Gustave Peller had charged only $20 for examing the varsity and junior high players last year.

The board discussed at great length a request that more junior high school basketball games be scheduled. It was made by Jim Criss, seventh - eight grade coach.

Lowe presented copies of Wellsville's 1962 football schedule after the board had approved the addition of Midland.

Next year's schedule: Sept. 7, Beaver, away; Sept. 14, Lisbon, home; Sept. 21, Toronto, home; Sept. 28, Midland, home; Oct. 5, New Philadelphia, away; Oct. 12, Weirton Madonna, home; Oct. 19, Salem, away; Oct. 25, Jefferson Union, away; Nov. 2, open, and Nov. 10, Beaver Local, home.

In the financial report, Lowe listed the following sources of receipts, totaling $6,753.80 for the season:

Season tickets, $173.60; Freedom gate receipts, $1,354; district track money, $12.30; Toronto guarantee, $300; Ashland gate receipts, $848.90; New Philadelphia gate receipts, $967.10; Weirton gate receipts, $300; Salem gate receipts, $1,136.50; Jefferson Union gate receipts, $772; Warren St. Mary's gate receipts, $639.40; Omni Club for a whirlpool bath, $250.

The expenditures were: clinic, $50; employes, $288; insurance, $280; guarantees, $1,700; police, $252; officials, $518.50; medical supplies, $250.19; equipment, $1,529.52.

Night deposit, $10; supplies for field, $79.41; printing, $278.50; transportation, $192.85; scouting, $26; letters, $70.98; medical bills, $10; postage, $8; Ohio Valley Athletic Conference dues, $20; meals, $64; film, $175; reconditioning, $1,491.07, and scoreboard repairs, $24. Expenditures totaled $7,318.02, excluding late bills.

The report listed unpaid bills for the 1961 season of $947.08 to Burbick's Hardware store and $294 to Dr. Campbell.

Powerful Stanton Local Rolls Over Salineville, 70-23

Spires Opens Season With 25; Irons Eye Second Tonight

SALINEVILLE — Don "Wilt" Spires, Stanton Local's 6-foot-6 giant, outscored Salineville High by himself, but his teammates threw in a few points too for a lopsided 70-23 win here Friday night.

Coach Harry Diehl's Irons, who seem more powerful than last year when they went on a 19-game winning streak, led all the way in the season's opener.

Meanwhile, Coach Al Girone's undermanned Salineville five dropped its third game in as many starts.

Spires, Stanton's "Mr. Inside," fired in 25 points coming mostly on jump shots from around the hoop. His total showed 12 field goals and three charity tosses. He was a first team All-Ohio selection last season.

Irondale's "Mr. Outside" Bob Mills, shooting his jump shot from various angles, wound up with 18 markers.

Jim Leedy, a 6-foot-2 performer, made his way into the double figures with 15 to round out a balanced attack from Stanton's three big men.

The Irondale five grabbed a 17-3 lead at the end of the first quarter and the halftime score read 32-11. It was increased to 53-17 after three periods as Diehl got the most mileage out of his regulars since it was the season's opener.

Salineville's Jack Baker scored 11 points, almost half of his team's total.

Stanton Local goes after its second straight playing its home opener tonight against Wayne. Salineville will travel to Crestview tonight.

The Stanton reserves finished on top, 51-45 in last night's preliminary battle.

North Lima Remains Jinx To Leetonia

NORTH LIMA — Leetonia failed to beat its old "jinx" — North Lima — by letting up in the fourth quarter and finishing on the short end of a 48-41 score.

Leetonia carried a narrow 30-28 lead into the fourth period, but was outscored 20-11 in the final eight minutes.

The contest marked the opener for Coach Len Batcha's Leetonia five while North Lima realized its first win in three starts.

Mike Reed paved the way for his team with 18 points while Leetonia was led by Rush Lehman's 13 points and a 12-point performance from Jay Holloway.

North Lima captured the reserve contest, 39-15.

Steelers Sign OSU Fullback

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers have signed their No. 1 draft choice—fullback Bob Ferguson of Ohio State—to a 1962 contract.

A spokesman for the National Football League team said the All-America inked a pact Friday in Columbus before assistant Steeler coach Mike Nixon.

The spokesman said Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes and two Pittsburgh Pirate officials — General Manager Joe L. Brown and President John W. Galbreath — played an instrumental role in the Steeler negotiations.

The signing of Ferguson gives the NFL a victory over the rival American Football League. The San Diego Chargers, top team in the AFL, had drafted Ferguson also and Charger coach Sid Gillman was in Columbus all week trying to sign the Troy, Ohio, native.

Field Trial Slated

Field trials will be held by the East Liverpool Beagle Club Sunday at the club grounds along the Y. & O. Rd. between Glenmoor and Rock Camp. Drawings will be held at 9 for members and others interested. Alfred Bayliss is field trial secretary.

Wellsville Shows Deficit Of $942 After '61 Season

Gate receipts for Wellsville High School's home football games in 1961 nosedived rapidly after a brisk sale of tickets for the season's opener with Freedom.

Receipts for the Freedom game totaled $1,354—the year's best—and then Nicholson Stadium crowds dwindled as the season rolled along.

The season closed with receipts of only $639.40 for the Tigers' finale against Warren St. Mary's, according to the football financial report compiled by Don Lowe, faculty manager.

Next best gate was for the Salem game, but rceeipts here were lower than in years. Lowe attributed a small following of Salem fans to Wellsville as a major reason for a deficit of $942.89 for the year's football program.

Ticket sales for the Salem game amounted to only $148 at Salem. "The gate was very disappointing, as we took $1,498 over there last year," Lowe told the Athletic Board Thursday night.

Wellsville actually lost $1,805 in football in 1961, but a surplus on hand at the beginning of the year shaved the deficit to $942.89. The school finished well in the black in 1960.

Lowe told the board that basketball receipts this year could help clear away the football deficit. "With a break in basketball, we should be all right," he said.

The Tigers will play nine home cage games and the school will receive 25 per cent of the profits of the Midland holiday tournament.

The board, meeting in Daw Junior High School, also received a $284 bill from Dr. D. Y. Campbell for physical examinations of varsity and junior high school players and treatments of several who had been injured.

The itemized statement listed $90 for physical examinations for 45 varsity players, $116 for physical exams for 58 junior high players, $27 for three office calls of performers and $51 for seven treated for injuries.

The board said it was "a jar to hear the report", but agreed to pay on the account after a brief discussion. It was pointed out that Dr. Gustave Peller had charged only $20 for examing the varsity and junior high players last year.

The board discussed at great length a request that more junior high school basketball games be scheduled. It was made by Jim Criss, seventh - eight grade coach.

Lowe presented copies of Wellsville's 1962 football schedule after the board had approved the addition of Midland.

Next year's schedule: Sept. 7, Beaver, away; Sept. 14, Lisbon, home; Sept. 21, Toronto, home; Sept. 28, Midland, home; Oct. 5, New Philadelphia, away; Oct. 12, Weirton Madonna, home; Oct. 19, Salem, away; Oct. 25, Jefferson Union, away; Nov. 2, open, and Nov. 10, Beaver Local, home.

In the financial report, Lowe listed the following sources of receipts, totaling $6,753.80 for the season:

Season tickets, $173.60; Freedom gate receipts, $1,354; district track money, $12.30; Toronto guarantee, $300; Ashland gate receipts, $848.90; New Philadelphia gate receipts, $967.10; Weirton gate receipts, $300; Salem gate receipts, $1,136.50; Jefferson Union gate receipts, $772; Warren St. Mary's gate receipts, $639.40; Omni Club for a whirlpool bath, $250.

The expenditures were: clinic, $50; employes, $288; insurance, $280; guarantees, $1,700; police, $252; officials, $518.50; medical supplies, $250.19; equipment, $1,529.52.

Night deposit, $10; supplies for field, $79.41; printing, $278.50; transportation, $192.85; scouting, $26; letters, $70.98; medical bills, $10; postage, $8; Ohio Valley Athletic Conference dues, $20; meals, $64; film, $175; reconditioning, $1,491.07, and scoreboard repairs, $24. Expenditures totaled $7,318.02, excluding late bills.

The report listed unpaid bills for the 1961 season of $947.08 to Burbick's Hardware store and $294 to Dr. Campbell.

Governor Names Weirton Woman In Hancock Post

Mrs. Paul K. Berwinkle of Weirton, past president of the Hancock County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, has been appointed by Gov. W. W. Barron to the vacancy on the Hancock County Welfare Council created by the death of Cyrus Spear, also of Weirton.

Mrs. Berwinkle, the fourth appointed member of the council, will complete the unexpired term which ends Aug. 31, 1963.

Other council members are Floyd Jividen of Newell, Mrs. Matthew Phillips of New Cumberland and Paul Altomare of Weirton. William C. Graham of Chester, president of the county commissioners, is an ex-officio member.

The council, which works with the West Virginia Welfare Department, controls the activities of its social service and child welfare divisions.

A resident of Weirton for 44 years, Mrs. Berwinkle has been active in the crippled children's society for 15 years and has served several years on its Board of Directors. A former high school teacher, she now is on the staff at the Weir Public Library.

Senator To Leave Rochester Firm

State Sen. John C. Miller of Aliquippa is leaving the engineering firm of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., of Rochester Dec. 15 for other employment, with both denying any political implications.

Baker said he did not fire Sen. Miller but did suggest in a letter that the legislator find other work as it had been necessary to lay off a number of persons in various offices. Sen. Miller replied and said he "understood," and will work with a New York concern.

It was understood Miller was first employed by Baker nine years ago at the request of the GOP administration, then retained at the request of the Democratic administration after the senator changed party affiliations.

Baker said Miller never represented the firm in any Pennsylvania contracts, confining his work to traveling for Baker in other states.

Baker termed as "nonsense" a report Mrs. Eli G. Corak of Midland had replaced Miller. She is the wife of the Midland mayor, who also is Beaver County commissioner and county Democratic chairman. She worked as secretary for Baker about a year.

Senator To Leave Rochester Firm

State Sen. John C. Miller of Aliquippa is leaving the engineering firm of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., of Rochester Dec. 15 for other employment, with both denying any political implications.

Baker said he did not fire Sen. Miller but did suggest in a letter that the legislator find other work as it had been necessary to lay off a number of persons in various offices. Sen. Miller replied and said he "understood," and will work with a New York concern.

It was understood Miller was first employed by Baker nine years ago at the request of the GOP administration, then retained at the request of the Democratic administration after the senator changed party affiliations.

Baker said Miller never represented the firm in any Pennsylvania contracts, confining his work to traveling for Baker in other states.

Baker termed as "nonsense" a report Mrs. Eli G. Corak of Midland had replaced Miller. She is the wife of the Midland mayor, who also is Beaver County commissioner and county Democratic chairman. She worked as secretary for Baker about a year.

Magazine Items On Ministry Hit By Lions Guest

The Rev. Gene Toot, associate minister of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, lashed out at what he termed "misleading" magazine articles on the ministry as a profession in addressing the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Many of the articles which have been published in the last several years seem to be written to sell magazines rather than present a correct picture of a minister's life, Rev. Toot said.

He pointed out the ministers of the major denominations are better educated than people are led to believe, explaining they generally are required to have three years work in a seminary after college.

Ministers also are not so poorly paid nor badly housed as some of the articles lead people to believe, Rev. Toot continued, adding that most clergymen also are healthier than other people, according to some life insurance statistics.

"I enjoy being a minister. Except for your family and friends, one of the greatest blessings is work which at least part of the time is not work," he concluded.

Rev. Toot was introduced by Donald Duke, program chairman. Charles Herman, president, presided.

SANTA and the FLYING SHOE

by Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Polydora was peaceful when King Ferdinand went to bed. But during the night, mysterious things begin happening in the palace. And then, with a crashing roar, the dreadful Ipswitch returns!

CHAPTER SIX

This time the Ipswitch landed on an acre of Christmas trees which stood in little red and green pots behind the palace.

These trees had been gathered from all over the land and were to be given to the poor on Christmas Eve. King Ferdinand had decorated them with tinsel and blue and silver balls and toy horns and candy canes and a golden star on the tip top of every one.

Now the field lay in ruins, the trees and the pots and the pretty decorations crushed beneath the enormous left foot of the Ipswitch.

In the palace itself all was confusion. The Ministers, gathered in the King's bed room, were flung, violently about. A rare antique vase fell from a mantle piece and knocked the Minister of Science senseless, the Minister of War was wound into the bed springs and the King himself was tossed into the air and left hanging by his knees from the chandelier.

—:—

GRADUALLY they righted themselves and, when dawn came, went out to survey the damage. Again, no one had seen the Ipswitch itself and the only thing that marked its passage was the footprint in the field of Christmas trees.

Now the people were really frightened and worse still, they had lost faith in King Ferdinand who had told them the Ipswitch had drowned. They began to mutter against the King and say that if he couldn't do something to defend the kingdom he should step down and let someone else rule the land.

But Ferdinand was undismayed. He set up a watch around the town and palace.

They saw a great black shoe coming down from above.

"If we keep our eyes open we are bound to see the Ipswitch when it comes again and when we do see it we will capture it, dead or alive!" He ordered his men to be alert and to attack at first sight of the enemy.

For three whole days and nights the guard with King Ferdinand in command, watched over the palace grounds and the Public Square and for three days and nights nothing happened.

On the fourth day a guard suddenly shouted, "Here it comes!"

—:—

THE KING and all the guards looked up and saw a great black shoe coming down from above. While they waited to attack the foot landed with a crash in an empty playground. The shock of the crash sent the guards sprawling and when they picked themselves up the Ipswitch was gone.

After this the King did not know what to do for how could he fight an enemy he could not see? To make matters worse, ever since the first appearances of the Ipswitch, the palace itself had been haunted.

Not only did doors open and close by themselves and sheets slide from the King's bed but the King often heard whispering sounds and creeking stairs and tapping on the walls when it was late at night and no one around at all.

Meanwhile, the people were sure that the next time the Ipswitch came it would step right on their very own homes. They howled for something to be done and, since they couldn't have the Ipswitch's head, some even began to clamor for the King's head!

Poor Ferdinand! He sat in his room and thought, "Oh, dear, why did all this have to happen so close to Christmas!" He remembered the letter to Santa he had never finished writing. "It's just as well," he sighed. "For by Christmas I shall not even be here anymore."

Magazine Items On Ministry Hit By Lions Guest

The Rev. Gene Toot, associate minister of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, lashed out at what he termed "misleading" magazine articles on the ministry as a profession in addressing the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Many of the articles which have been published in the last several years seem to be written to sell magazines rather than present a correct picture of a minister's life, Rev. Toot said.

He pointed out the ministers of the major denominations are better educated than people are led to believe, explaining they generally are required to have three years work in a seminary after college.

Ministers also are not so poorly paid nor badly housed as some of the articles lead people to believe, Rev. Toot continued, adding that most clergymen also are healthier than other people, according to some life insurance statistics.

"I enjoy being a minister. Except for your family and friends, one of the greatest blessings is work which at least part of the time is not work," he concluded.

Rev. Toot was introduced by Donald Duke, program chairman. Charles Herman, president, presided.

SANTA and the FLYING SHOE

by Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Polydora was peaceful when King Ferdinand went to bed. But during the night, mysterious things begin happening in the palace. And then, with a crashing roar, the dreadful Ipswitch returns!

They saw a great black shoe coming down from above.

CHAPTER SIX

This time the Ipswitch landed on an acre of Christmas trees which stood in little red and green pots behind the palace.

These trees had been gathered from all over the land and were to be given to the poor on Christmas Eve. King Ferdinand had decorated them with tinsel and blue and silver balls and toy horns and candy canes and a golden star on the tip top of every one.

Now the field lay in ruins, the trees and the pots and the pretty decorations crushed beneath the enormous left foot of the Ipswitch.

In the palace itself all was confusion. The Ministers, gathered in the King's bed room, were flung, violently about. A rare antique vase fell from a mantle piece and knocked the Minister of Science senseless, the Minister of War was wound into the bed springs and the King himself was tossed into the air and left hanging by his knees from the chandelier.

—:—

GRADUALLY they righted themselves and, when dawn came, went out to survey the damage. Again, no one had seen the Ipswitch itself and the only thing that marked its passage was the footprint in the field of Christmas trees.

Now the people were really frightened and worse still, they had lost faith in King Ferdinand who had told them the Ipswitch had drowned. They began to mutter against the King and say that if he couldn't do something to defend the kingdom he should step down and let someone else rule the land.

But Ferdinand was undismayed. He set up a watch around the town and palace.

"If we keep our eyes open we are bound to see the Ipswitch when it comes again and when we do see it we will capture it, dead or alive!" He ordered his men to be alert and to attack at first sight of the enemy.

For three whole days and nights the guard with King Ferdinand in command, watched over the palace grounds and the Public Square and for three days and nights nothing happened.

—:—

Trophy Presented

County Deputy Places First In Pistol Contest

LISBON — Deputy Sheriff James (Ronnie) Gause of Gas Tax Rd., north of Hanoverton, has added to emblems of his pistol prowess a first-place trophy won in a recent district contest and which was awarded him at the Buckeye Sheriffs Association's banquet at Columbus this week.

He won the recent district contest at Canton and went on to the state finals, where he placed second in a field of eight.

Gause has been shooting competitively only since June and finished eighth among 270 entries in the .22-caliber pistol marksman class at the national pistol match Aug. 1-2 at Camp Perry.

He became interested in pistol marksmanship a year ago when he attended an FBI-sponsored firearms school. Since then he has fired thousands of rounds in practice.

He has both an outdoor and indoor range near his home and manages to get in at least 50 rounds per day, and as many as 200 rounds per day before a match. His wife, the former Ruth Niswonger of Depot Rd., gives him good competition on the line but hasn't participated in matches.

Gause made his debut in competition at Amherst and before going to Camp Perry, shot in matches at Beaver Falls, Canton and Harrisburg where he won one first and two seconds in the Hunters and Anglers Association summer pistol tournament.

Gause cuts the expense of his hobby by reloading his own cartridges. Now, when he fires, nothing is wasted but the primer and powder. A shot trap catches the slugs and the brass casings can be used up to 60 times.

He has a workshop in the rock-walled den of his home, molds the bullets, replaces the primers and recharges the primer casings with a measured amount of powder. Several police departments send cartridges to him for refilling.

DEPUTY JAMES GAUSE
Trophy For District Win.

The Gause youngsters — Sheryl, 7; Teresa, 6, and Chuckie, 4, handle certain phases of the operation.

Gause has been in the sheriff's office two years, but has seven years of police work, counting the time as Hanover Township constable and patrolman at Guilford Lake State Park.

Name Is Changed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The newly created Ohio Expositions Commission has changed the name of the state fairgrounds to the Ohio Exposition Center. Rowland Bishop will continue to manage the center until a permanent manager is named.

Crash Hurts Man And Son

A Wellsville man and his young son were injured Friday when their car hit a guardrail on Route 152, four miles northeast of Richmond in Jefferson County.

In a second mishap, a New Somerset motorist escaped unhurt when his vehicle plunged into a creek bed and overturned.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said Harry Thrasher, 50, suffered possible chest injuries, and son, Dexter, 8, received a bruise on the head in the mishap near Richmond. They were treated at St. John's Hospital in Steubenville.

Thrasher was driving west when his car skidded on gravel at a curve, the patrol said. There was moderate property damage.

Frank Board, 31, of New Somerset escaped uninjured when his car plunged into a creek bed Friday along Hollow Rock Rd. east of New Somerset.

The patrol said Board was north-bound, towing another vehicle, when the tow chain broke, Board lost control as he looked to the rear. The car went off the right side of the road and overturned in the creek bed, the patrol reported.

Jail Break Charges Placed Against Four

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) —Jail break charges were added Friday to the original counts against four escapees from the Belmont County jail recaptured Thursday night.

The four — Robert Kehr, 24, Richard Beck, 27, and Richard Mulvey, were all of Wheeling, W. Va., and Jack Loy, 37, of Bethesda — were found within five miles of here although they had separated. The sheriff's department is still looking for a fifth escapee, Robert Pelkey, 34, of Wheeling.

Wellsville Hunter Wounded In Mishap

A Wellsville man is in "good" condition today in St. John's Hospital in Steubenville with buckshot wounds of the legs received in a hunting mishap Thursday afternoon.

Willis Culp, 40, of 1620 Clark Ave., suffered eight pellet wounds in his right leg and 15 in his left, the hospital said.

Jefferson County sheriff's deputies said Culp was shot accidentally on a rabbit hunting trip near Annapolis by a companion, John Thomas, of Empire.

Midland Man Named To Mental Health Unit

Fred G. Wilton of Midland has been elected to fill an unexpired term on the Board of Directors of the Beaver County Mental Health Society.

Wilton also has been appointed as a member of the retirement, staff and office committees while Mrs. Calvin Dunlap of Ohio Township will serve on the volunteer services committee.

Trophy Presented

County Deputy Places First In Pistol Contest

DEPUTY JAMES GAUSE
Trophy For District Win.

LISBON — Deputy Sheriff James (Ronnie) Gause of Gas Tax Rd., north of Hanoverton, has added to emblems of his pistol prowess a first-place trophy won in a recent district contest and which was awarded him at the Buckeye Sheriffs Association's banquet at Columbus this week.

He won the recent district contest at Canton and went on to the state finals, where he placed second in a field of eight.

Gause has been shooting competitively only since June and finished eighth among 270 entries in the .22-caliber pistol marksman class at the national pistol match Aug. 1-2 at Camp Perry.

He became interested in pistol marksmanship a year ago when he attended an FBI-sponsored firearms school. Since then he has fired thousands of rounds in practice.

He has both an outdoor and indoor range near his home and manages to get in at least 50 rounds per day, and as many as 200 rounds per day before a match. His wife, the former Ruth Niswonger of Depot Rd., gives him good competition on the line but hasn't participated in matches.

Gause made his debut in competition at Amherst and before going to Camp Perry, shot in matches at Beaver Falls, Canton and Harrisburg where he won one first and two seconds in the Hunters and Anglers Association summer pistol tournament.

Gause cuts the expense of his hobby by reloading his own cartridges. Now, when he fires, nothing is wasted but the primer and powder. A shot trap catches the slugs and the brass casings can be used up to 60 times.

He has a workshop in the rock-walled den of his home, molds the bullets, replaces the primers and recharges the primer casings with a measured amount of powder. Several police departments send cartridges to him for refilling.

The Gause youngsters — Sheryl, 7; Teresa, 6, and Chuckie, 4, handle certain phases of the operation.

Gause has been in the sheriff's office two years, but has seven years of police work, counting the time as Hanover Township constable and patrolman at Guilford Lake State Park.

Name Is Changed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The newly created Ohio Expositions Commission has changed the name of the state fairgrounds to the Ohio Exposition Center. Rowland Bishop will continue to manage the center until a permanent manager is named.

Crash Hurts Man And Son

A Wellsville man and his young son were injured Friday when their car hit a guardrail on Route 152, four miles northeast of Richmond in Jefferson County.

In a second mishap, a New Somerset motorist escaped unhurt when his vehicle plunged into a creek bed and overturned.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said Harry Thrasher, 50, suffered possible chest injuries, and son, Dexter, 8, received a bruise on the head in the mishap near Richmond. They were treated at St. John's Hospital in Steubenville.

Thrasher was driving west when his car skidded on gravel at a curve, the patrol said. There was moderate property damage.

Frank Board, 31, of New Somerset escaped uninjured when his car plunged into a creek bed Friday along Hollow Rock Rd. east of New Somerset.

The patrol said Board was north-bound, towing another vehicle, when the tow chain broke. Board lost control as he looked to the rear. The car went off the right side of the road and overturned in the creek bed, the patrol reported.

When you want to give pork chops a stuffing, make sure you have chops that are an inch thick and have a "pocket" cut in each to hold the stuffing.

Township Group Will Elect Officers

LISBON — Officers will be elected at the annual Christmas dinner meeting of the Unity Township Progressive Home Demonstration Group Thursday from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Edith Fox, east of Unity.

Members are to bring covered dish and table service and 50-cent gift for an exchange, according to Miss Julia Shank, county extension agent in home economics.

Hammondsville PTA Will Convene Jan. 15

HAMMONDSVILLE — The Parent - Teacher Association of the elementary school will not meet in December, Mrs. Joan Sprague, secretary, announced today.

Next meeting is Jan. 15. Mrs. Shirley Plunkett is president.

Q. Can you suggest a good tip for the easy removal of decals from furniture?

A. Place some adhesive cellulose tape over the decal, and then remove it, and the decal will peel off with it.

Q. Any suggestions for some "homemade" Christmas tree ornaments?

A. You can fashion some very attractive tree ornaments from burned - out light bulbs. Cover the bulbs with mucilage and then dip them into colored confetti or artificial snow.

Q. Please give me a suggestion for displaying the Christmas cards we shall be receiving this year.

A. Try wrapping some wire coat hangers with red or green crepe paper, attaching three ribbon streamers to each of these, and then pinning your cards on these streamers.

Q. Is there anything I can do when a coated - fabric raincoat cracks or wears thin in spots?

A. You can keep it waterproof for a little while longer by applying a coat of automobile top dressing to the bad spots. Use the clear type of dressing, rather than the black.

Q. How can I make a good antique stain for pine wood?

A. Strongly - brewed tea does a very good job of this. After applying and allowing to dry, cover it with two thin coats of fresh, white shellac, then wax for a fine finish.

Q. Any suggestions for the cleaning of colored silks?

A. Colored silk fabrics require much care when washing. Don't allow it to become badly soiled before laundering. Add a little salt to cold water to prevent the color from running.

County Agents Responsible

Rural People Due Plans To Guard Against Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's extension service has launched a campaign to educate rural people how to make preparations for protecting themselves, their livestock and property in event of nuclear attack.

Major responsibility for this campaign will rest on county agricultural agents.

In assigning the department the responsibility for Civil Defense in rural America, Frank B. Ellis, director of the office of emergency planning, said "the rural population of America is vital to national security."

"It is essential," Ellis added, "that farmers and others living in rural areas understand the nature of radioactive fallout—its effect on people, land, livestock, crops and other agricultural products—so that appropriate steps may be taken now to minimize the damage from such a catastrophe."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will dedicate his department's new $16.5 million national animal disease laboratory at Ames, Iowa, Dec. 14.

The new laboratory consists of 33 buildings for basic and applied studies of the principal infectious diseases prevalent in the United States. When fully staffed the laboratory will employ about 500 persons.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department, now run by Democrats, had a good word today for a soil bank land retirement program instituted by the preceding Republican administration.

Under this program, farmers were paid to take cropland out of production for a number of years. The objective was to help reduce overproduction.

A department study of the soil bank program as it has functioned in Georgia made this comment:

"Results of the study indicate that the program in Georgia has contributed to adjustments in farm production and resource use. The program has facilitated removal of land from production on farms where conservation needs were great. It has also provided a means of shifting less profitable units out of production and of increasing income on most participating farms."

Wet Paving Causes Dresden Ave. Mishap

Slippery pavement was blamed for a crash that involved two trucks Friday afternoon in the 1200 block of Dresden Ave., police reported.

A halted 1953 model truck operated by George H. Anderson, 54, of Post Office Box 298 was hit from the rear by a 1957 model driven by Ronald D. Shreeve, 30, of Substation Rd., officers said. There was no apparent damage to Anderson's vehicle, but the crash smashed the front end of the truck Shreeve was driving, owned by Litten Motor Sales of Walnut St., police said.

The crash was timed at 12:36, 120 feet south of McKee St. Anderson told police he was in a line of traffic which halted to permit a vehicle to turn off McKee St. onto Dresden. Shreeve said wet pavement made it impossible for him to halt in time to avoid a collision.

Shoplifting Will Cost Merchants $500 Million

CHICAGO (AP)—Shoplifting is mostly obedience to an impulse by otherwise honest people whose petty pilferage will cost America's merchants more than $500 million during December.

The conclusion and estimate of loss is by Norman Industries, Inc., of Chicago, a theft-prevention engineering firm.

Norman Kiven, president, said the peak of Christmas shopping also will be the peak of shoplifting. It will become so prevalent in some stores, he said, that the merchants will find when the rush is over they actually operated in the red.

One large store in the Midwest recently reported it apprehended 57 shoplifters in a two-week period before Christmas shopping began. The average attempted theft in those cases involved merchandise valued at $11.48.

Kiven said his statistics show that only about 10 per cent of shoplifters are professionals. He described the others as ordinary people of whom 90 per cent are women.

"Contrary to what most people think," Kiven said, "the middle income and richer customers are responsible for greater losses. Virtually none of them would resort to the impulse to steal if they believed there was the slightest chance they would be caught. People with smaller incomes are satisfied with the smaller impulse-type merchandise."

Kiven said reports by merchants show that shoplifting has risen 14 per cent in the last year.

The ranks of shoplifters sometimes include employes of the stores themselves, Kiven said.

He cited a department store in Detroit which asked its employes to take a lie test with a pledge of immunity from any guilt that might be shown. After the tests, 76 per cent of the employes admitted stealing $100 or more each during the preceding six months.

Homeroom Mothers Named By Chester Elementary PTA

Eleven homeroom mothers were named at a meeting of the Chester Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night at the high school.

The mothers were announced by Mrs. Richard Lee, homeroom representative chairman. They are Mrs. Howard Graham, Mrs. W. C. Graham, Mrs. Ralph Sims and Mrs. Robert Cain for the eighth grade.

Mrs. Charles French was named to the program committee. Mrs. Charles Wagner, chairman of the membership committee, reported the recently - organized group now has 90 members.

Guest speakers were Mrs. James Greathouse, regional PTA director; Mrs. John Stankiewicz, state room representative, and Mrs. Anthony Debart, president of the Hancock County PTA Council.

It was announced a Christmas party will be held at the school Dec. 21. Kent Manley, president, was in charge. Lunch was served by the eighth grade mothers.

The group will meet Jan. 4.

Cawood Named Head Of Paper Firm Board

Richard L. Cawood has been named board chairman and J. Stanley Probst, former executive vice president, has been elected president of the American Paper Products Co., it was announced today.

John M. Roberts IV has been named vice president in addition to treasurer while Richard Hunsicker was elected secretary as well as continuing his duties as purchasing agent.

The appointments are effective Jan. 1.

The same officers also will direct the activities of the subsidiary Catholic Publishing Co. Located in East Liverpool for many years, the plant now is in Boardman.

DiSalle Turns Down Petition For Sheppard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says Dr. Sam Sheppard, serving a life term for the 1954 murder of his wife, has had his day in court and that any request for a pardon must go through the Pardon and Parole Commission.

That was the governor's answer Friday to Miss Sandra Spangler, 26, Canton legal secretary, who submitted to DiSalle a petition bearing about 1,500 signatures asking for a pardon and the Bay Village osteopath. Miss Spangler said Sheppard had "an unfair trial" and that his only hope of justice was in the governor's hands.

Judge Heads Council

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — R. H. Kear, judge of the Wyandot County Common Pleas Court, was elected chairman of the advisory council to the Division of Corrections Friday.

Pennsylvania Judge Shifts Burglary Trial

MERCER, Pa. (AP) — Judge Herman M. Rodgers has ruled that the burglary trial of Phil Mainer of Youngstown, Ohio, be held in Armstrong County rather than here in Mercer County. Judge Rodgers said he seriously doubted if Mainer could receive a fair trial here because of publicity in newspapers and over the radio.

Mainer, 39, is accused of attempting a $29,000 burglary of a Sharon clothing store Sept. 17, 1960.

Farm Tractor Driver Fined For No Lights

LISBON — Thomas A. Rogers, 19, of Hammondsville R.D. was fined $2 and costs for operating a farm tractor on the highway without red lights on the rear at a hearing Friday before County Judge James L. MacDonald.

In other State Highway Patrol cases Harold R. Payne, 21, of Warren was fined $50 and costs for no operator's license and $5 for failing to yield the right-of-way, and Marjorie Logston, 32, of 384 E. Chestnut St., Lisbon, $2 and costs for speeding.

Henry H. Bowen, 38, of 301 E. Chestnut St., Lisbon, forfeited $15 bond for parking on a highway and Mary J. Biddle, 21, of Canton $15 for speeding.

Archbishop Dies

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The Most Rev. Francis Patrick Keough, 70, archbishop of the oldest Roman Catholic diocese in the United States, died Friday of effects of a stroke. He was born in New Britain, Conn., ordained a priest in 1916 and named archbishop of Baltimore in 1947. He was known unofficially as "archbishop of the poor" for his charity work.

Killed By Train

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—A Pennsylvania Railroad freight train struck and killed Mrs. Mary Kelly Neal, 75, near Loveland Friday night, sheriff's deputies said. The engineer, Elmer Wende, said he tried repeatedly to warn the woman with the train whistle but she failed to get off the tracks.

Shoplifting Will Cost Merchants $500 Million

CHICAGO (AP)—Shoplifting is mostly obedience to an impulse by otherwise honest people whose petty pilferage will cost America's merchants more than $500 million during December.

The conclusion and estimate of loss is by Norman Industries, Inc., of Chicago, a theft-prevention engineering firm.

Norman Kiven, president, said the peak of Christmas shopping also will be the peak of shoplifting. It will become so prevalent in some stores, he said, that the merchants will find when the rush is over they actually operated in the red.

One large store in the Midwest recently reported it apprehended 57 shoplifters in a two-week period before Christmas shopping began. The average attempted theft in those cases involved merchandise valued at $11.48.

Kiven said his statistics show that only about 10 per cent of shoplifters are professionals. He described the others as ordinary people of whom 90 per cent are women.

"Contrary to what most people think," Kiven said, "the middle income and richer customers are responsible for greater losses. Virtually none of them would resort to the impulse to steal if they believed there was the slightest chance they would be caught. People with smaller incomes are satisfied with the smaller impulse-type merchandise."

Kiven said reports by merchants show that shoplifting has risen 14 per cent in the last year.

The ranks of shoplifters sometimes include employes of the stores themselves, Kiven said.

He cited a department store in Detroit which asked its employes to take a lie test with a pledge of immunity from any guilt that might be shown. After the tests, 76 per cent of the employes admitted stealing $100 or more each during the preceding six months.

DiSalle Turns Down Petition For Sheppard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says Dr. Sam Sheppard, serving a life term for the 1954 murder of his wife, has had his day in court and that any request for a pardon must go through the Pardon and Parole Commission.

That was the governor's answer Friday to Miss Sandra Spangler, 26, Canton legal secretary, who submitted to DiSalle a petition bearing about 1,500 signatures asking for a pardon and the Bay Village osteopath. Miss Spangler said Sheppard had "an unfair trial" and that his only hope of justice was in the governor's hands.

HYPERTENSION

Some 5 million Americans suffer from high blood pressure, but now a new drug, one of several recent advances, offers relief without disagreeable side effects

By JOHN DU CHEZ, M.D.

Assistant Clinical Professor, George Washington University

A 47-YEAR-OLD executive, father of three, came into my office. He was the victim of pounding headaches and roaring noises in his ears. A dynamic, aggressive person, he was financially successful, but he was under stress at home and at work.

His trouble? High blood pressure, medically known as hypertension, a common disorder plaguing an estimated five million Americans.

Like thousands of these people, this businessman previously received reserpine, a derivative of the tropical shrub Rauwolfia, to reduce his high blood pressure. Unhappily, this drug also had produced annoying side effects —nightmares and depression. Later, his treatment with reserpine had been combined with a diuretic which lowers the body's salt content and allows a lower dosage of reserpine. Even so, he was being plagued by complications.

Today, however, this executive is leading an essentially normal and productive life. He enjoys a general feeling of well-being. The reasons? Psychological counseling and the use of a new drug—mebutamate, the latest advance in drug therapy, which works in a unique way on the central nervous system to lower blood pressure, without producing serious side effects. Scores of physicians have prescribed this drug and found drowsiness and headache the only frequent side effects. While mebutamate works in hypertension of all degrees, clinical investigators have found it to be most valuable in treating mild to moderate hypertensives.

The introduction of this drug, however, is the only one of the more recent results of our steadily increasing knowledge of high blood pressure and the hypertensive. Everyone has blood pressure, of course. Your blood pressure may go up when you are excited, then go down again. But when your blood pressure is persistently high, it becomes a health problem.

How do you know if you have high blood pressure? Only a doctor can tell. Actually, many persons are afflicted with it without realizing it. One businessman, 44, had virtually no symptoms. His first indication came during an insurance examination. To his surprise, the policy was refused.

The most common symptoms associated with hypertension are headaches, fatigue, dizziness, or lightheadedness, heart palpitations, insomnia, weakness, excessive blushing. These same symptoms, however, can be signs of other disorders as well.

The cause of the most common kind of hypertension—"primary" or "essential" hypertension—is still unknown. We know that high blood pressure occurs when the tiny vessels which carry the blood from the arteries to the capillaries become narrowed. When this happens, the heart must supply increased pressure to force blood to flow through.

We also know that a tendency toward high blood pressure seems to run in families and that almost twice as many women as men are troubled with the disorder.

SOMEHOW, emotional disturbances, too, are involved in the problem. Individuals who live with fear, anger, frustrations, and tensions —without any outlet for expression—often have higher pressure levels.

Why is it important to detect high blood pressure—especially in the early stages?

Undiagnosed and untreated, high blood pressure can permanently damage the heart. Over a period of time, the heart, because of the excessive demands made on it, may enlarge to the point where it can't function properly.

High blood pressure and hardening of the arteries often go together—they account for more than 90 percent of all heart and circulatory disease, today's leading cause of death in the United States. High blood pressure can be the villain in causing strokes, damage to the kidney and other vital organs.

A great deal has been done to control high blood pressure in the past decade. We can see this even in the attitude of physicians; formerly, doctors were reluctant to treat many cases of hypertension with the drugs then available. Today, they are fortified with increased knowledge and an array of tools to subdue it, including such new drugs as mebutamate.

NEW SURGICAL TECHNIQUES also have been developed in the past decade. For example, we now have techniques involving actual surgical reconstruction of arteries in the kidneys to salvage that organ and restore it to normal function. Previously, these cases would have required removal of the kidney.

We have learned, too—without completely understanding—how diet can be tailored to the individual patient's needs. He may be required to reduce weight and go on a low sodium diet—meaning no table salt, for one thing.

And certainly we have learned more about counseling a patient in regard to his personal stresses and repressions. In some cases, the physician may refer his hypertensive patient to a psychiatrist for help in making subtle adjustments in his life.

Whatever the treatment needed, high blood pressure patients can be assured it is available —and constantly being refined. Based on what we already have learned, it seems likely we will soon discover the fundamental cause of hypertension and find a way to prevent it as well as control it.

STARS

PHOTOGRAPHS BY PETER BASCH

A top photographer's personal selection of promising actresses shows they have talent as well as beauty

SHARON HUGUENY

At 17, Sharon Hugueny already has starred in a major film, "Parrish," and will be seen in the forthcoming "Majority of One." Born in Hollywood, Sharon wrote stories and plays in high school and intended to study writing until a talent scout saw her in a little-theater production of "Gigi." A leap-year baby, she precociously signed her film contract on her fourth birthday, Feb. 29, 1960. Sharon has studied ballet and languages as well as dramatics, and like many other bright young stars can show a solid theatrical background to match her beauty and charm.

SHIRLEY KNIGHT

Another young star who broke into movies after being seen in a little-theater role is 24-year-old Shirley Knight, who last year won an Academy Award nomination for her supporting performance in "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs." A small-town girl from Kansas, Shirley and her sister sang when they were children at local affairs, and Shirley later performed on TV and radio, and in summer stock. A drama scholarship from UCLA took her West. To prepare for her career, Shirley studied piano, violin, xylophone, and drums. She's married to writer-producer Gene Pearson and will be seen next in "House of Women."

DIANE McBAIN

At 20, Diane McBain already has three major films to her credit: "Ice Palace," "Claudelle Inglish," and "Parrish." Born in Cleveland, Diane grew up in Glendale, Calif., where she spent her free time swimming, water skiing, and horseback riding. Unlike many actresses, Diane had no theatrical ambitions and as a high-school senior modeled to provide money for college. Seen by film executives, Diane was asked to test for "Ice Palace" and signed a contract as a result. Blonde, blue-eyed Diane is particularly proud of a trace of American Indian blood in her Scotch-German family.

PAULA PRENTISS

When Paula Prentiss was a sophomore at Randolph-Macon College in Virginia, she won two honors: a scholarship for academic excellence and the title of "Most Beautiful Girl on Campus." Until she took a drama course, Paula's interests were in physics and mathematics. A talent scout saw her in a college production on a Monday; she flew to New York for a reading on Tuesday; flew to Hollywood on Wednesday; was interviewed on Thursday; tested on Friday; and the following Monday signed for "Where the Boys Are." Subsequent movies were "The Honeymoon Machine" and "Bachelor in Paradise."

SANDRA DEE

Starred in a dozen films by the time she was 19, Sandra Dee has temporarily suspended her career while she and husband Bobby Darin await their first child. The two young stars fell in love while playing together in "Come September." Sandra came to Hollywood via modeling. Rated as one of the top 10 models, she made $30 an hour and hesitated about accepting a dramatic role on television. It was a great success, and at 15 she started a new career, reaching the top again. A skillful cook, Sandra enjoys concocting rich, fancy desserts—which she herself never eats.

DOLORES HART

After playing modern teen-agers (twice with Elvis Presley), Dolores Hart made an about-face to play Clare, a 13th-century saint, in "Francis of Assisi." But Dolores took the change in stride, saying that making the film on location in Italy gave her a chance to learn Italian cooking and the language. The 22-year-old Chicago girl was discovered playing another saint, Joan of Arc, in a college production of "Joan of Lorraine." Her love of films goes back to childhood, when her grandfather, a projectionist, sneaked her into his booth to watch the movies over and over.

STARS

PHOTOGRAPHS BY PETER BASCH

A top photographer's personal selection of promising actresses shows they have talent as well as beauty

SHARON HUGUENY

At 17, Sharon Hugueny already has starred in a major film, "Parrish," and will be seen in the forthcoming "Majority of One." Born in Hollywood, Sharon wrote stories and plays in high school and intended to study writing until a talent scout saw her in a little-theater production of "Gigi." A leap-year baby, she precociously signed her film contract on her fourth birthday, Feb. 29, 1960. Sharon has studied ballet and languages as well as dramatics, and like many other bright young stars can show a solid theatrical background to match her beauty and charm.

SHIRLEY KNIGHT

Another young star who broke into movies after being seen in a little-theater role is 24-year-old Shirley Knight, who last year won an Academy Award nomination for her supporting performance in "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs." A small-town girl from Kansas, Shirley and her sister sang when they were children at local affairs, and Shirley later performed on TV and radio, and in summer stock. A drama scholarship from UCLA took her West. To prepare for her career, Shirley studied piano, violin, xylophone, and drums. She's married to writer-producer Gene Pearson and will be seen next in "House of Women."

DIANE McBAIN

At 20, Diane McBain already has three major films to her credit: "Ice Palace," "Claudelle Inglish," and "Parrish." Born in Cleveland, Diane grew up in Glendale, Calif., where she spent her free time swimming, water skiing, and horseback riding. Unlike many actresses, Diane had no theatrical ambitions and as a high-school senior modeled to provide money for college. Seen by film executives, Diane was asked to test for "Ice Palace" and signed a contract as a result. Blonde, blue-eyed Diane is particularly proud of a trace of American Indian blood in her Scotch-German family.

PAULA PRENTISS

When Paula Prentiss was a sophomore at Randolph-Macon College in Virginia, she won two honors: a scholarship for academic excellence and the title of "Most Beautiful Girl on Campus." Until she took a drama course, Paula's interests were in physics and mathematics. A talent scout saw her in a college production on a Monday; she flew to New York for a reading on Tuesday; flew to Hollywood on Wednesday; was interviewed on Thursday; tested on Friday; and the following Monday signed for "Where the Boys Are." Subsequent movies were "The Honeymoon Machine" and "Bachelor in Paradise."

SANDRA DEE

Starred in a dozen films by the time she was 19, Sandra Dee has temporarily suspended her career while she and husband Bobby Darin await their first child. The two young stars fell in love while playing together in "Come September." Sandra came to Hollywood via modeling. Rated as one of the top 10 models, she made $30 an hour and hesitated about accepting a dramatic role on television. It was a great success, and at 15 she started a new career, reaching the top again. A skillful cook, Sandra enjoys concocting rich, fancy desserts—which she herself never eats.

DOLORES HART

After playing modern teen-agers (twice with Elvis Presley), Dolores Hart made an about-face to play Clare, a 13th-century saint, in "Francis of Assisi." But Dolores took the change in stride, saying that making the film on location in Italy gave her a chance to learn Italian cooking and the language. The 22-year-old Chicago girl was discovered playing another saint, Joan of Arc, in a college production of "Joan of Lorraine." Her love of films goes back to childhood, when her grandfather, a projectionist, sneaked her into his booth to watch the movies over and over.

Jackie Kennedy and Queen Elizabeth —Experts at the

Our First Lady and the British Queen share a love of horses

Same Sport!

and are among the best — and most attractive — riders anywhere

By MARIE D. SMITH

■ When President and Mrs. Kennedy dined with England's Queen Elizabeth last June at Buckingham Palace, it is a safe bet the two women got around to discussing horses. Both are ardent horse fans, at ease in the saddle or equally happy at the rail, watching an exciting race or show.

If the women exchanged horse stories, they may have sounded strangely similar. For both acquired equestrian skills at an early age and have maintained an active interest in horses that keeps them in the news.

One British wag noted without sarcasm that, as a result of the Queen's interest in horses, smart young girls in Britain have brought fathers to the brink of bankruptcy by keeping horses in garages, in tiny gardens, and even in greenhouses.

The situation is not so serious in the United States, but many a father will acknowledge that he has been beset, since the Kennedy Administration took office, by pleas from young daughters who want horses.

During the hunting season in Virginia, Mrs. Kennedy spends nearly every weekend at Glen Ora, her estate near Middleburg, and rides to the hounds with the Orange County Hunt. Described as the "snootiest hunt club in Virginia," harder to break into than Buckingham Palace, it turned down the Duke of Windsor a few years back when all the former King of England wanted to do was ride once with the hunt as a guest!

If there's a horse show or race in the area, the First Lady may be found in breeches and riding coat, among the enthusiastic spectators. Sometimes, the President, whose interest is something less than her own, is with her.

While Queen Elizabeth has a stable of horses for personal and official use—including a string of fleet-footed, racing thoroughbreds—Mrs. Kennedy owns only one mount, a handsome bay gelding named Bit of Irish.

Little Jacqueline was scarcely a year old when she was first lifted astride a pony. At two, she was already a poised, confident young lady in the saddle, entertaining 20 little guests at a birthday party with pony rides.

When she was five, Jacqueline was a sufficiently assured equestrienne to ride alongside her mother. That summer, mounted on graceful chestnut mares, the two won in the family class at the Easthampton Horse Show.

At the age of six, Jacqueline, fearlessly jumping low fences, took her first big and most embarrassing tumble. This happened while in a jumping class at the Southampton Horse Show.

Her mother had taught her to go at the fences straight because the pony couldn't make the grade if she went in at an angle. Jacqueline trotted around the ring the first time, kicking her mount to lift him over the jumps.

On the second time around, however, she started in angled, the pony ducked, and off she spilled. Jacqueline scrambled up and tried to climb back into the saddle before show officials could reach her, but she was trying to mount on the wrong side.

The crowd applauded, which left the annoyed little girl puzzled. Later she asked her mother why they clapped when she fell off.

Here was the chance for her mother, now Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, to teach the future First Lady a lesson. "Those were terribly silly people," her mother told her. "They didn't know what really happened. You should be ashamed of handling your pony so carelessly. He might have been hurt."

It was Mrs. Kennedy's mother, one of the most skillful and daring horsewomen in the country, the winner of many ribbons and trophies, who made her daughter a fine horsewoman.

Queen Elizabeth's fondness for horses was encouraged by her grandfather, King George V, who used to take the bouncing little princess along on Sunday strolls around the palace stables.

Ping-Pong Bounce By Donovan A. Moore

This is an active game for several children but can be played in the house without upsetting it.

Place an empty coffee can on the floor near the wall at one end of the room.

Have the contestants stand behind a line about six feet from the coffee can. Each contestant gets two shots.

The one to play first takes the ping-pong ball and tosses it so it will bounce into the can. Then for his second shot, he rushes up and retrieves the ball as near the can as possible and tries to bounce it in again by standing at the spot where he gets the ball.

If the ball goes into the can on the first try, it scores two points and on the second try only one point. The ball does not have to stay in the can to score. It is possible to get three points each turn if the player makes both shots.

If the ball goes in the can on the first shot, the contestant takes it out and tries to bounce it in for his second shot by standing beside the can.

The first one to score 21 points wins the game.

Aquarium By Melba Baehr

Line up the players and have them pretend they are visiting an aquarium. The first player names an aquarium creature whose name begins with the letter "a"; the second player names one beginning with the letter "b"; the third with the letter "c"; and so on. (Example: anchovy, barnacle, clam.)

Perhaps it will be best to omit the letter "x." Players unable to name an aquarium inhabitant for their letter must drop out of the game. Continue on, repeating the alphabet until only one, the winner, is left. No repeats on aquarium dwellers already named, please.

It was Mrs. Kennedy's mother, one of the most skillful and daring horsewomen in the country, the winner of many ribbons and trophies, who made her daughter a fine horsewoman.

Queen Elizabeth's fondness for horses was encouraged by her grandfather, King George V, who used to take the bouncing little princess along on Sunday strolls around the palace stables.

He gave the princess her first pony, a Shetland named Peggy, when she was only four, and by the time she was five she was sufficiently skilled to make token appearances on her.

As Elizabeth grew older, she took lessons from Henry Owen, the Duke of York's groom, and learned to obey his injunctions to "curl in under" or "keep your guard." When sister Margaret became old enough to ride, Peggy was given to her, and Elizabeth went on to ride other ponies.

One of them, Snowball, was much loved, although once Elizabeth let go the reins while placing one hand on the pony's side. He leaped forward and she fell. Unhurt, she quickly remounted and scolded, "Snowball, that was very, very naughty." But she added, "It was mostly my fault."

Mrs. Kennedy recalls that she got her own first pony when she was eight years old. Her mother would not let her have a horse until she was able to take care of it. "Dance Step" was a large piebald, and she spent hours rubbing her down after rides, cleaning her tackle each time it had been used, and grooming her. She still treasures the ribbons she won with her.

Now that she is a mother herself, Mrs. Kennedy heartily agrees with her mother's wisdom. The First Lady thinks "all children should learn to care for their animals," and she believes in encouraging her own Caroline to do so.

Jacqueline Kennedy's favorite horse, she told me, was a lovely chestnut mare named "Danseuse" which had belonged to her mother. Mrs. Kennedy's mother, then Janet Lee Bouvier, won the hunter championship three times in Madison Square Garden on "Danseuse," and Jacqueline often rode her.

When she went to school in Connecticut, Jacqueline couldn't bear to be parted from "Danseuse," which by this time had become her own. She wanted the mare with her, which presented a problem: $25 a month for the horse's board. Jacqueline's grandfather, "Grampy Jack," John Vernou Bouvier, Jr., agreed to meet the cost and Jacqueline was supremely happy!

Young Jackie is in a reflective mood after competing in the Southampton horse show.

She recalls that every day she went up to the stables and groomed "Donny." One night her roommate locked her in the stall with the horse, and as a result Jacqueline was almost late for an evening lecture. But she took it as the joke it was intended to be.

Among Mrs. Kennedy's collection of ribbons won at horse shows are two denoting a rare achievement in horsemanship. At the age of 11, she won two national championships in the same show at Madison Square Garden: the ASPCA (American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) Alfred Maclay Trophy for Horsemanship and the ASPCA Good Hands event.

Atop her favorite thoroughbred, Princess Elizabeth rides about Windsor Great Park.

Mrs. Kennedy says she was "often thrown, as is anyone who rides." When she was nine, she suffered a broken collarbone when tossed from her horse, and a few years ago on a hunt in Virginia, her horse stepped into a hole and she was thrown off.

Queen Elizabeth sees that Princess Anne and Prince Charles take riding lessons and keeps up with their progress. Mrs. Kennedy would like to see her little daughter become a skilled horsewoman also, and is teaching Caroline by placing her astride the horse with "mummy" holding the lines in front.

Queen Elizabeth is so interested in horses, she sometimes gets up at 5:30, puts on old clothes with a scarf about her head, and goes out to see her horses exercised.

Carriage horses, which look like identical twins, are the most glamorous at Buckingham Palace. They live in stables that have mahogany doors and shining brass handles. They are named after famous wartime leaders; one is called Eisenhower.

Every June, Queen Elizabeth and members of her house party at Windsor Castle, compete in a race at Ascot that takes place before spectators arrive. Although she gallops at a fast pace, she has yet to win.

The Husbands Aren't Interested

Both the First Lady and Queen Elizabeth are married to men with cool detachment toward horses. Prince Philip is more interested in polo, yachting, swimming, shooting, and gliding. President Kennedy's sports are sailing, swimming, and golfing.

But Mrs. Kennedy is determined to get him interested in horses. Last Christmas she gave him custom-made riding clothes. She even had her mother's handsome chestnut hunter, "Happy Son," moved to the Middleburg estate hoping the President would ride him.

So far, he hasn't been on the horse once, possibly because of his back trouble. But the First Lady is keeping the animal available just in case the busy President finds time to join her on a canter across the rolling Virginia countryside.

Once he feels the carefree wind in his face as he jogs along in the saddle, she believes he'll be a horse fan, too!

Puzzle By Hans Kreis

Deer at winter feeding place—find two deer, one rabbit, and the game warden.

Ping-Pong Bounce By Donovan A. Moore

This is an active game for several children but can be played in the house without upsetting it.

Place an empty coffee can on the floor near the wall at one end of the room.

Have the contestants stand behind a line about six feet from the coffee can. Each contestant gets two shots.

The one to play first takes the ping-pong ball and tosses it so it will bounce into the can. Then for his second shot, he rushes up and retrieves the ball as near the can as possible and tries to bounce it in again by standing at the spot where he gets the ball.

If the ball goes into the can on the first try, it scores two points and on the second try only one point. The ball does not have to stay in the can to score. It is possible to get three points each turn if the player makes both shots.

If the ball goes in the can on the first shot, the contestant takes it out and tries to bounce it in for his second shot by standing beside the can.

The first one to score 21 points wins the game.

Aquarium By Melba Baehr

Line up the players and have them pretend they are visiting an aquarium. The first player names an aquarium creature whose name begins with the letter "a"; the second player names one beginning with the letter "b"; the third with the letter "c"; and so on. (Example: anchovy, barnacle, clam.)

Perhaps it will be best to omit the letter "x." Players unable to name an aquarium inhabitant for their letter must drop out of the game. Continue on, repeating the alphabet until only one, the winner, is left. No repeats on aquarium dwellers already named, please.

He gave the princess her first pony, a Shetland named Peggy, when she was only four, and by the time she was five she was sufficiently skilled to make token appearances on her.

As Elizabeth grew older, she took lessons from Henry Owen, the Duke of York's groom, and learned to obey his injunctions to "curl in under" or "keep your guard." When sister Margaret became old enough to ride, Peggy was given to her, and Elizabeth went on to ride other ponies.

One of them, Snowball, was much loved, although once Elizabeth let go the reins while placing one hand on the pony's side. He leaped forward and she fell. Unhurt, she quickly remounted and scolded, "Snowball, that was very, very naughty." But she added, "It was mostly my fault."

Mrs. Kennedy recalls that she got her own first pony when she was eight years old. Her mother would not let her have a horse until she was able to take care of it. "Dance Step" was a large piebald, and she spent hours rubbing her down after rides, cleaning her tackle each time it had been used, and grooming her. She still treasures the ribbons she won with her.

Now that she is a mother herself, Mrs. Kennedy heartily agrees with her mother's wisdom. The First Lady thinks "all children should learn to care for their animals," and she believes in encouraging her own Caroline to do so.

Jacqueline Kennedy's favorite horse, she told me, was a lovely chestnut mare named "Danseuse" which had belonged to her mother. Mrs. Kennedy's mother, then Janet Lee Bouvier, won the hunter championship three times in Madison Square Garden on "Danseuse," and Jacqueline often rode her.

When she went to school in Connecticut, Jacqueline couldn't bear to be parted from "Danseuse," which by this time had become her own. She wanted the mare with her, which presented a problem: $25 a month for the horse's board. Jacqueline's grandfather, "Grampy Jack," John Vernou Bouvier, Jr., agreed to meet the cost and Jacqueline was supremely happy!

Young Jackie is in a reflective mood after competing in the Southampton horse show.

She recalls that every day she went up to the stables and groomed "Donny." One night her roommate locked her in the stall with the horse, and as a result Jacqueline was almost late for an evening lecture. But she took it as the joke it was intended to be.

Among Mrs. Kennedy's collection of ribbons won at horse shows are two denoting a rare achievement in horsemanship. At the age of 11, she won two national championships in the same show at Madison Square Garden: the ASPCA (American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) Alfred Maclay Trophy for Horsemanship and the ASPCA Good Hands event.

Mrs. Kennedy says she was "often thrown, as is anyone who rides." When she was nine, she suffered a broken collarbone when tossed from her horse, and a few years ago on a hunt in Virginia, her horse stepped into a hole and she was thrown off.

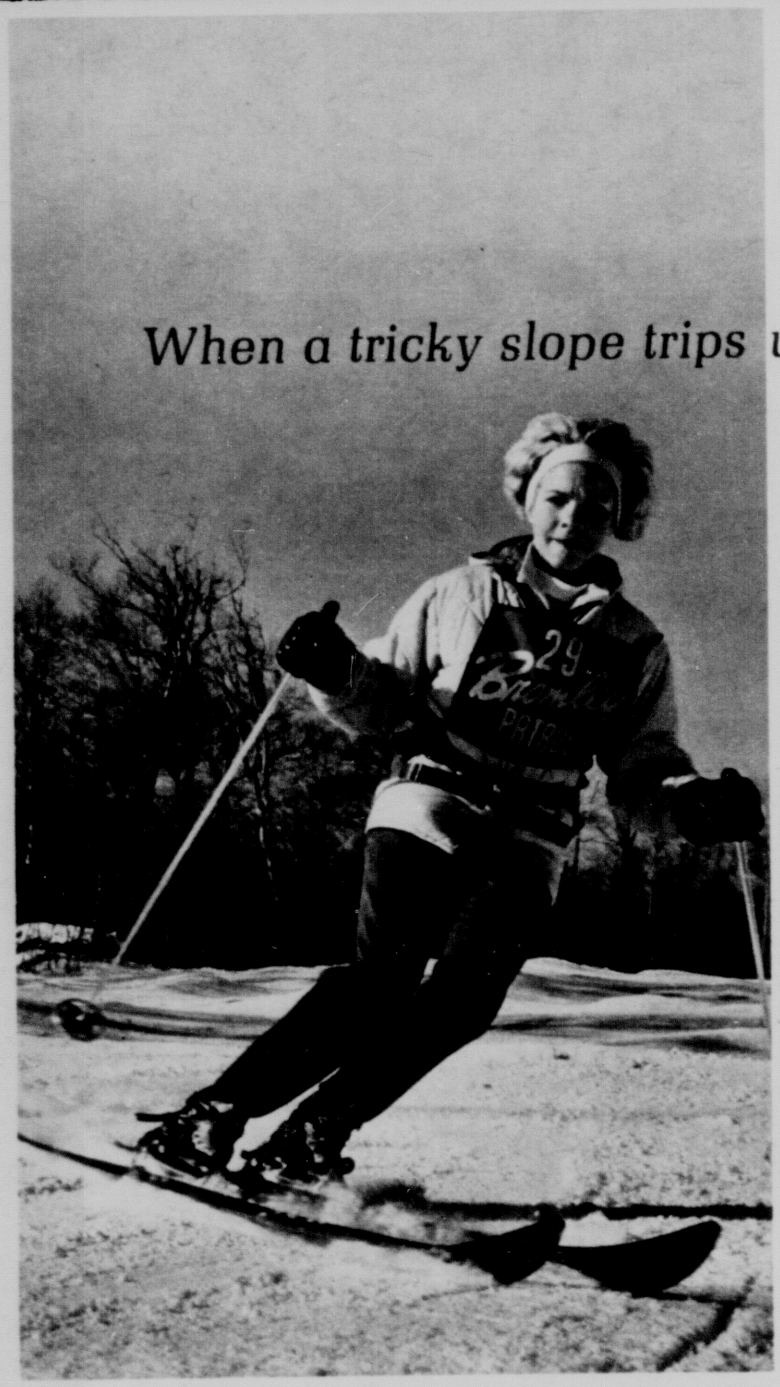
Angel of

When a tricky slope trips up a winter sportsman, Bonnie



Alert for any trouble, Bonnie Thompson (above) spots a downed skier (below), speeds to his aid, then surveys the situation.

LIKE MANY exciting outdoor sports, skiing provides almost as many spills as thrills. Even experienced skiers take bone-cracking tumbles on the slopes, and it's the job of the Ski Patrol to locate the victims and bring first aid.

At 17, Bonnie Thompson of Montrose, N. Y., is a veteran Ski Patrol member and a superb skier who made her first run at the age of three. During the season, Bonnie covers the slopes at Big Bromley, Vt., one of the biggest ski resorts in the nation. Promptly at nine, Bonnie and the rest of the Ski Patrol are on the hills which they keep under surveillance until dark. If she spots a downed skier with a broken bone or sprain, Bonnie races to comfort the injured sportsman, then goes for the "ambulance," a toboggan mounted on skis. The injury is treated, and the victim strapped onto the toboggan. Bonnie must then navigate ambulance and patient down the slope, no easy chore because the combined weight may be 300 pounds. At sunset Bonnie and another patroler "sweep" the slope to make sure no injured skier has been overlooked.

Unpaid volunteers, Ski Patrol members receive only free lift privileges, and the appreciation of the fallen sparrows they pick up.

Festive Snack Board

A tree-trimming party should be casual, so plan an easy-on-the-hostess snack and one that your guests may enjoy throughout the evening.

Cover a large cutting board with aluminum foil, available in colors at this time of year if you wish to carry out a color scheme. In the center unmold potato salad, which has been molded in a Christmas tree shape, or a brightly colored, star-shaped relish mold. Garnish the "tree" with sliced pimiento-stuffed olive "ornaments" and garlands of green pepper strips. Around the mold place sprigs of water cress or lettuce leaves with olives, radish fans, and pickles nestled among them.

Arrange slices of cheese and cold meats—ham, roast beef, chicken, or packaged ready-to-eat meats—radiating out from the mold. Separate the rows with stuffed hard-cooked eggs, sprinkled with paprika or snipped parsley.

Set the board on your buffet with baskets of assorted breads and seasoned butter.

Toffee

3. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla extract. Quickly pour into buttered 15½ x 10½ x 1-in. jelly roll pan and spread to corners. Cool slightly; mark into squares with a sharp knife. Cool.
4. Meanwhile, melt chocolate over hot water. Cool. When candy is completely cool, spread melted chocolate evenly over top. Sprinkle remaining nuts over chocolate. When chocolate is set, break toffee into pieces. Store in a tightly covered container.

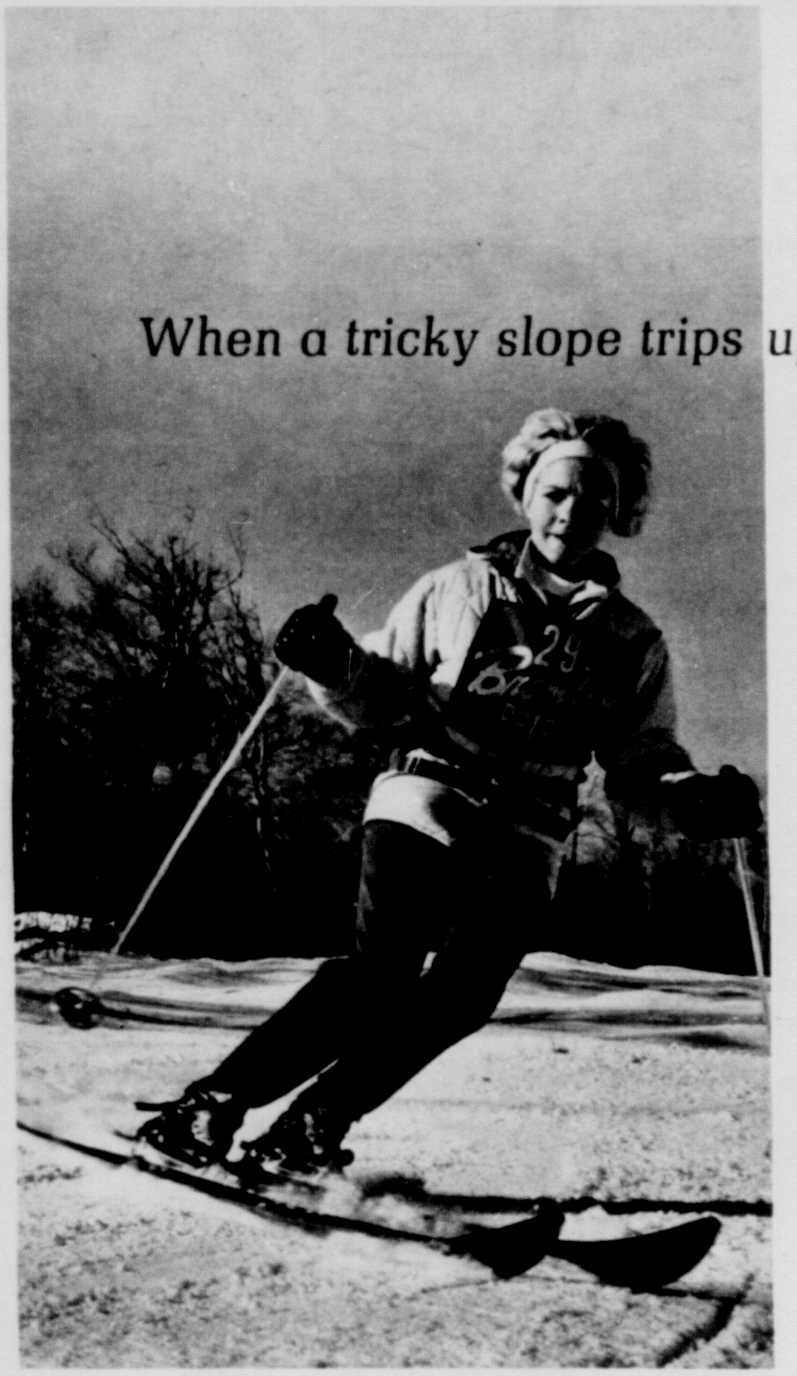
When a tricky slope trips up a winter sportsman, Bonnie



Alert for any trouble, Bonnie Thompson (above) spots a downed skier (below), speeds to his aid, then surveys the situation.

LIKE MANY exciting outdoor sports, skiing provides almost as many spills as thrills. Even experienced skiers take bone-cracking tumbles on the slopes, and it's the job of the Ski Patrol to locate the victims and bring first aid.

At 17, Bonnie Thompson of Montrose, N. Y., is a veteran Ski Patrol member and a superb skier who made her first run at the age of three. During the season, Bonnie covers the slopes at Big Bromley, Vt., one of the biggest ski resorts in the nation. Promptly at nine, Bonnie and the rest of the Ski Patrol are on the hills which they keep under surveillance until dark. If she spots a downed skier with a broken bone or sprain, Bonnie races to comfort the injured sportsman, then goes for the "ambulance," a toboggan mounted on skis. The injury is treated, and the victim strapped onto the toboggan. Bonnie must then navigate ambulance and patient down the slope, no easy chore because the combined weight may be 300 pounds. At sunset Bonnie and another patroler "sweep" the slope to make sure no injured skier has been overlooked.

Unpaid volunteers, Ski Patrol members receive only free lift privileges, and the appreciation of the fallen sparrows they pick up.

Festive Snack Board

A tree-trimming party should be casual, so plan an easy-on-the-hostess snack and one that your guests may enjoy throughout the evening.

Cover a large cutting board with aluminum foil, available in colors at this time of year if you wish to carry out a color scheme. In the center unmold potato salad, which has been molded in a Christmas tree shape, or a brightly colored, star-shaped relish mold. Garnish the "tree" with sliced pimiento-stuffed olive "ornaments" and garlands of green pepper strips. Around the mold place sprigs of water cress or lettuce leaves with olives, radish fans, and pickles nestled among them.

Arrange slices of cheese and cold meats—ham, roast beef, chicken, or packaged ready-to-eat meats—radiating out from the mold. Separate the rows with stuffed hard-cooked eggs, sprinkled with paprika or snipped parsley.

Set the board on your buffet with baskets of assorted breads and seasoned butter.
